Mideast Gets First Priority For Bermuda

(Picture on Page 12.)

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan assigned top priority to the Middle East crisis, including Suez and Egyptian-Israeli problems, at the opening of their formal negotiations today.

The session opened in the drawing room of the Mid-Ocean Club, where chiefs of the two governments met with advisers

Real start of the top level quest for fullscale restoration of the British-American partnership in world affairs began at a three hour dinner Wednesday night, however, when the President and Prime Minister and secretaries of state reviewed world issues.

Gets Top Billing

As a result of that talk, the Middle East crisis was put first as a topic of discussion

While no announcement was made, it seemed probable that second position for discussion would be Britain's plans for cutbacks in its world-wide military commitments

American officials foresaw a serious possibility the United States may have to make new commitments of its own to keep the free world's military guard up

A meshing of US and British defense plans was assured a high place on the agenda, as was the tangle of urgent Middle East issues involving vital interests of both countries

Diplomats said the President and Prime Minister, together with Secretary of State Dulles, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other officials, probably would hold two meetings daily through Saturday

Hope To Strengthen Unity

The two government chiefs in statements made on their arrival Wednesday both expressed confidence their Bermuda meeting would result in a strengthening of British-American cooperation in world affairs.

Their advisers agreed privately that this hope can be realized only if the two men can arrive at agreements or better understandings on some very tough and very practical problems

The issue of Britain's military cutbacks is in this class

Macmillan came determined to tell Eisenhower that because of sagging finances and economic pressure at home, Britain must retrench. The British feel there can be no change in that basic decision

American officials said the US government recognizes the gravity of Britain's plight but is worried about the effect of the planned cutbacks on the free world's defenses They think Macmillan is prepared to negotiate the timing and extent of the reductions

U.S Not Fully Informed

The United States these officials said, so far has not been fully and officially informed of Britain's plans Washington knows Britain in the next year will call home some 13,000 of the 80 000 men it has in West Germany, an announced plan

Qualified informants said Britain also is planning to withdraw most of its 5,000 troops in South Korea, but the United States has not had official information of this, or of what will happen to British commitments in Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaya and Libya

The Americans do not expect any early British cuts of importance in Cyprus, Malta and Gibraltar But they want firm information from Macmillan covering all such points

Cypriots Turn Down NATO Bid for Peace

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek Cypriots and the Greek government have rejected a British approved offer by NATO to mediate for peace on Cyprus

British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox Boyd told the House of Commons Wednesday London was willing to let the North Atlantic Treaty Organization try to settle the controversy over the strategic British colonial island in the east Mediterranean The plan was for NATO to attempt conciliation among Britain, Greece and Turkey—all NATO members

Within hours, Greek and Greek Cypriot leaders declared their opposition

6 GIs Attacked

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — Rivalry for American business was blamed for an attack early today by Bavarian youths who injured six American soldiers, one of them critically Names of the soldiers were not announced

2 Bills for Appointive Body Killed

State Education Board Gets New Lease on Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Schools took the legislative spotlight today

The House Education Committee killed two bills designed to reduce the 23 - member elected State Board of Education to a smaller, appointed board

The Senate Education Committee took two steps to ease the transfer of school district territory and the consolidation of school districts

New Lease on Life

One bill approved by the Senate committee would permit the State Board of Education to get the ball rolling on school district consolidations—even across county lines

The other would permit 75 per cent of the residents of any given area to petition for a transfer from one school district to another

The actions came shortly before the Legislature recessed for the weekend

The action killing the moves to change membership of the State Board of Education gave the present board a new lease on life

Gov C William O'Neill has called the present elected board "unwieldy" and Senate Majority Leader C Stanley Mechem agrees House Speaker Roger Cloud held out for more time to allow the 15-month old state school board to "get its feet on the ground"

50 Per Cent Needed

The killed measures to make the State Board of Education appointed instead of elective came from Reps James McCaffery (D-Cuyahoga) and James A Lentz (D-Fairfield)

The bill to permit the state school board to start consolidation proceedings would permit approval of such moves upon 50 per cent favorable votes of both the school district which would gain area and the district which would lose The bill is sponsored by Sen Charles A Mosher, chairman of the Senate Education Committee

The bill permitting transfer of school territory on the petition of 75 per cent of the electors is sponsored by Sen Delbert E Latta (R Wood) The procedure would replace county citizen's committees which under the law have been permitted to ask such transfers

Explains Bill

The Senate Wednesday passed unanimously and sent to the House a bill to cut from 15 to 8 per cent the percentage of a highway construction project's total cost the department may hold back The percentage is held back pending acceptance of the completed project

The bill's sponsor, Sen I E Baker (R-Montgomery) explained: "In these days of projects in

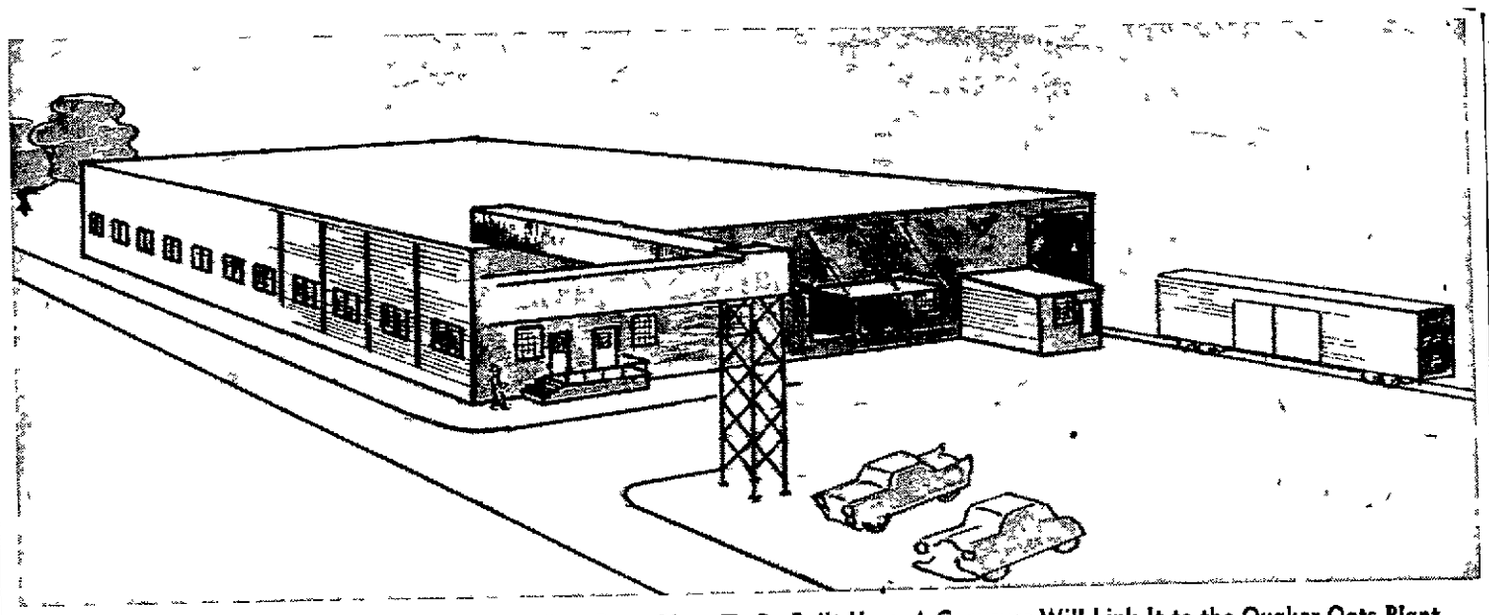
Quaker Oats Will Build, Lease Plant for Manufacture of Cans



This Is an Artist's Conception of the National Can Corp. Plant To Be Built Here. A Conveyor Will Link It to the Quaker Oats Plant.

Product Will Be Made by National Can

Old, New Buildings Will Be Linked by Overhead Conveyor

Plans for a new can manufacturing plant in Marion were announced today by the Quaker Oats Co and National Can Corp

The Quaker Oats Co. will put up a building across the street from its local Ken-L-Products plant and lease it to National Can which will manufacture the product.

Will Be Done This Year

The new plant is expected to be in operation by the end of the year

During the busy season, the can factory is expected to employ between 75 and 100 persons, company officials said.

Construction on the building will begin this month The contract for construction has been awarded to the Marion Contracting Corp

L L Kreuter, Quaker Oats manager in Marion, said the single story building will measure 1 0 by 200 feet It will be erected on a lot owned by Quaker Oats just across W Center St. from the Ken L-Products plant The lot is an irregularly-shaped tract about 158 by 400 feet

Cans made in the new building will be transported to the Ken L-Products plant by means of an overhead conveyor crossing W. Center St.

The plant will be constructed of reinforced concrete and concrete block, with a gypsum deck roof.

Firm's 16th Plant

The facility here will be National Can's 16th plant The corporation, the nation's third largest can manufacturer, has its headquarters in Chicago It recently announced new plants in Stockton, Calif, and in Green Bay, Wis, both of which will be in operation for the 1957 packing seasons in their respective areas

Construction of the can plant will mark another step in the growth of the local Ken L-Products

Misuse of Funds Charged

Union's Purchase Of Gift Auto Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets investigators said today Teamsters Union funds went to buy a new automobile for an organizer's girl friend

Pierre Salinger, a staff investigator, testified to the Senate rackets probe committee, that a check signed by Frank Brewster, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters on the conference's funds was used to buy a car registered in the name of Mary James Bothell, Wash

Salinger said he found out in a telephone interview with Miss James that the car was purchased for her in June 1954 for $3 115 by Terry McNulty, paid as a union organizer.

Also in Racing

There has been previous testimony that McNulty, while carried on the conference's payroll as an organizer, devoted considerable time to Brewster's horse racing stables

Salinger said McNulty also interviewed by committee investigators claimed the price of the car was refunded in cash to the Western Conference But Salinger said no such amount is shown as an incoming item on the conference's records

Salinger said McNulty claimed he turned over the money to Gordon Lindey former secretary treasurer of the conference but now deceased

Willing To Comply

Just before the hearings resumed, Brewster told newsmen he is willing to hand over his personal financial records to the committee

When the senators asked Wednesday for Brewster's financial records, the West Coast teamsters boss said he wanted to consult his lawyer first

Brewster told reporters that if the senators repeated their request he would supply the records

There is not much in them," he said, adding that they consist largely of his personal check books and some old receipts mainly covering household expenses "and the like"

This was the fourth day in the witness chair for Brewster

At the outset of the committee session Chairman McClellan (D Ark) read a telegram from Dave Beck, Teamsters Union president advising that Beck intended to appear before the committee next Tuesday as requested

Beck said he would bring his financial records "under the provisions of my previous wire"

In the earlier wire, Beck had said he was reserving his constitutional rights

Work Starts On First New Sewer Project

Contractors this morning were conducting last minute preparations for moving construction equipment onto the site of the first project of Marion's proposed 12-million dollar sewer improvement program at Forest Lawn Blvd

Safety Service Director R Guy Bigelow said today that surveying was completed Wednesday afternoon and primary lines of construction have been staked out

Tiffin Excavating Contractors, Inc low bidders on the 10 inch sanitary relief sewer from Indiana Ave, north to E Center St on Forest Lawn Blvd, indicated construction operations would begin this afternoon if equipment is in position by then

Mr Bigelow said a day to day construction schedule probably will be drawn up next week when he meets with the contractors

Starting next week, two other contractors are scheduled to begin work on the other phases of the Indiana Ave Forest Lawn Blvd project

R H McManus and Co of Detroit will construct the Indiana Ave trunk sewer and Frank Verderber Inc of Toledo will begin work on the Forest Lawn Blvd trunk from Indiana Ave south to Mt Vernor Ave

Mr Bigelow indicated that all three sewers would be completed before Sept 7—the completion date for the Forest Lawn Blvd trunk sewer

Temperature Dips To Low Mark of 23

As skies cleared last night the mercury tumbled for an overnight low reading of 23 degrees, according to observers at the Marion weather station

Light snow flurries fell at intervals throughout the day Wednesday as spring arrived but today brought sunny skies and warmer temperatures High today was expected to be 50

Increasing cloudiness is forecast for tonight with a low of 35 and occasional rain is expected to start late tonight and continue Friday with tomorrow's high to be near 50 A year ago, the high for the day was 44 and the low 16.

Extension Due On Corporate, Excise Taxes

Sen. Byrd Reports House Chiefs Okay 15-Month Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Byrd (D-Va) said today House leaders have agreed to go along with a plan to increase from a year to 15 months an extension of present rates on corporation and excise taxes

In view of this, Byrd told a reporter, the Finance Committee he heads undoubtedly will vote for the longer extension to July 1 1958 The House already has voted an extension to April 1, 1958 Unless Congress acts the business tax rates will drop April 1, cutting revenues three billion dollars a year

Byrd said the longer extension would have the advantage of making the tax dates correspond with the government's fiscal years which start July 1, so that, "if we ever can cut taxes we would know just how it would affect the revenue"

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told the Finance Committee he would have no objection to the 15 month extension provided it did not delay final action on the bill beyond March 31

Byrd said House leaders had told him they would accept the change without a conference This would mean the measure could be sent to the White House before the deadline if the Senate acts by the middle of next week

Present corporation rates include a 30 per cent normal tax on earnings up to $25 000 and a 22 per cent surtax on all the rest for a total of 52 per cent

Nehru Fears Disaster

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today the world for the first time faces the "contingency that all human history all human experience might be wiped out" He told the lower house of Parliament that with nuclear weapons the world today lives on the verge of a disaster unlike anything ever experienced in the past

Opens Talks in Cairo

Dag Bids for Pact On Canal Controls

CAIRO (AP) —U N Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today began talks with top Egyptian officials in an effort to speed agreement on operation of the Suez Canal and to ease Arab-Israeli tensions still threatening the Middle East with violence

Arriving in Cairo after midnight by plane, Hammarskjold talked with his aides, rested briefly at his hotel and then went to see Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi

Egypt was expected to balk at the plea Hammarskjold reportedly will make for an Egyptian-Israeli proclamation of nonbelligerency.

Seen Asking Pledges

It was believed Hammarskjold would call for such pledges as a major curb against renewed warfare and that Israel would agree to go along The Israelis have said all along they are ready to talk peace with their Arab neighbors

The Arab allies of the 1948 Palestine War have refused to talk peace with the Israelis They have used the continuing technical state of war as a basis for their economic boycott of Israel and their refusal to let Israeli ships use the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba There appeared little hope Egypt would modify that position in the current talks with Hammarskjold

Declines Comment

The secretary general was smiling as he stepped from the plane that brought him on his fifth visit to Egypt in little more than a year He declined to make any statement to reporters

A U N press spokesman said he did not know whether Hammarskjold would visit the canal area and the Gaza Strip or how long he would remain in Egypt

For the Gaza Strip, Hammarskjold was expected to try to work out a plan that would neutralize the Mediterranean coastal area militarily while leaving it under Egyptian administration He will urge the stationing of UNEF troops along both sides of the border separating Gaza and Israel a proposal Israel rejected previously in regard to its territory

Other Middle East developments

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister David Ben Gurion predicted another Arab-Israeli war is possible — though probably not within the next few months A letter from Ben-Gurion to border settlements contained the warning

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir left New York by plane last night for Israel after emergency talks with Secretary of State Dulles and Hammarskjold She said her talks with Dulles convinced her that U S and Israeli objectives in the Middle East are identical

3 Lose Lives In Attempting Traffic Rescue

MAHNOMEN Minn (AP) — Two persons were killed today when their car sheared off a power pole and three would be rescuers were killed by electric shock in relay in an attempt to remove the dead and injured from the wreckage

Killed when their car went into a ditch and struck the pole were William E Schultz 28, of Winger Minn, the driver and Donald Haugen 21, also of Winger

Highway patrolmen said Schultz apparently died of injuries suffered in the crash but Haugen was killed by electric shock The younger man cried out "I m being shocked" before he died at the scene

The first car on the scene was driven by Marvin Duncan Jr, 18, Fosston, Minn Both he and his passenger Arnold Rolf, 18 of Fosston, were killed by electric shock when they went to the Schultz car

The same fate met Clark Holdahl, 21, Winger who came along in another car and also sought to aid the accident victims.

Possible Historic Operation

Siamese Twins, Parted 3 Months Ago, Survive

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government scientists have told of a possibly historic operation in which they separated twin baby girls who had been joined at the forehead

The House Appropriations Committee which made public the story today, was told this was 'the first operation of this kind in which, at least until the present time, both twins have survived"

Dr Pearce Bailey director of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, gave the account of the intricate operation performed last December on Virginia Kate and Teresa Kay Bunton of Mountain City, Tenn The twins then were 4 months old

'In Good Health'

Today a little over three months after the operation, the twins were reported in "good health" They still are at the clinical center of the National Institutes of Health in nearby Bethesda, Md, where the surgery was performed

There have been a number of cases where Siamese twins, joined at the head, were separated only to have at least one of the twins die One of the most famous of these cases involved the Brodie twins of Chicago Rodney Dee Brodie survived, but Roger Lee, his twin brother, died after 34 days

Bailey, testifying on appropriations requests of the Public Health Service, told the committee

The only remedy — the only hope of salvation of the twins themselves—was surgical separation They could not have lived, even in this age of antibiotics, linked together as they were"

Bailey said

"The right frontal lobes of the twins appeared mashed together but there were no brain connections between them There was considerable crossing of some large arteries which we cut and clamped, and in one instance, there was considerable bleeding from a large artery that led from the lower frontal lobe of Virginia into the frontal lobe of Teresa We succeeded in stopping that bleeding . .

Completely Separated

"Then we made a larger channel in the bone and the twins gradually began to rotate outwardly, more and more until they were completely separated

Bailey said a hole left in the frontal part of each head "can be remedied later by surgery"

The doctor said Teresa is 'quite an alert child,' and added

"The outlook as to intelligence is still a little bit guarded in the case of Virginia, but we believe that we can expect a normal development for Teresa."

Correctional Institution Begins Tests on Sirens

Supt Lamoyne Green of the Marion Correctional Institution reported today that the three-day "dry run" tests of the new escape alarm system started as scheduled Wednesday noon

He indicated that a strong wind prevented the siren from being heard in areas west of the institution, however

Tests, consisting of intermittent siren blasts, followed a few minutes later by a long blast or all-clear signal, will be held through Friday

After that time, the superintendent pointed out, the sound of the siren will indicate the actual escape of an inmate.

Source of Trouble in Clogged Coal Pipeline Reported Found

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) — One reason the world's longest coal pipeline clogged and won't open on April 9 as scheduled is that pumps wouldn't force the slurry up a steep hill south of here, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said today.

In a deep wooded ravine about five miles south of here, a Plain Dealer reporter located a hastily excavated pond containing tons of slurry emptied from the clogged line. The slurry is a mixture of powdered coal and water, about half and half. Some of the coal particles in the mixture were larger than the line could carry up a steep grade, the newspaper said it had learned.

Since the 108-mile-long, 12½ million-dollar pipeline broke down in its first major test four weeks ago, Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. has rebuffed newsmen's attempts to find out what went wrong.

The line is of 10¾-inch steel welded in 40-foot links and runs from Georgetown, Ohio, in the southern Ohio coal fields, to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.'s generating plant on Lake Erie's shore. It is designed to handle 150 tons of coal an hour or 1,300,000 tons a year at a saving of up to 50 per cent over rail freight costs.

The hog-down came in the first leg of the pipeline between Georgetown, south of Cadiz, and the second pumping station at Carrollton.

Heart Drive in Crawford Is Over Goal by $1,000

BUCYRUS — The campaign of the Crawford County Branch of the Central Ohio Heart Association came to an end today with contributions exceeding the goal by more than $1,000.

Mrs. Myrtle Snyder, Bucyrus, campaign chairman, said contributions totaled $7,383. Goal was $6,350.

The contributions include a $1,816 bequest from the estate of the late Mrs. Myra Ulmer of New Washington. Bucyrus residents contributed $4,383 while Galion donated $3,000 and $569 was collected in Crestline.

Hoover Views Inflation As Most Serious Threat

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said Wednesday that taxpayers are "groaning" over the record government spending and he warned that inflation is the country's most serious threat.

Hooever, 82, said that if the public took some of the "special interest groups' pressure off Congress" the lawmakers would have a better chance to reduce the government's spending program.

"The purchasing power of the dollar is down every month," said Hoover in an interview.

Hoover is in Miami Beach for his customary bonefishing in the Florida Keys.

Probation Given 4 Youths on Area Break-In Charges

BUCYRUS — Four youths involved in break-ins in Crestline, Shelby and Plymouth have been placed on probation following arraignments before Crawford County Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll here and Mayor Thurman Ford at Plymouth.

The youths, Floyd Dyer, 21, and Allen R. Locker, 19, both of Bucyrus, and Clifford Dyer, 19, and Raymond Dyer, 21, former Bucyrians now living in Springfield, were placed on two years' probation by Judge Carroll and then turned over to Plymouth authorities. Mayor Ford of Plymouth placed the quartet on probation because they had already spent 92 days in the county jail here and had made restitution for the stolen property.

The four were indicted by the grand jury earlier this month for the theft of three bottles of whiskey from the Ohio Equity plant near Crestline. They also admitted the theft of cookies and work gloves from the Farm Bureau at Shelby and $25 in change from the Plymouth School. The three burglaries occurred Dec. 19.

At their arraignments here last week, Floyd and Clifford Dyer pleaded innocent by reason of insanity while the cases against Locker and Raymond Dyer were continued until this week. All four pleaded guilty this week.

The probation was recommended by Prosecutor John B. Sears Jr., who told Judge Carroll that the men have job prospects.

Important Event

Start of work today on the first project in Marion's long-range sewer improvement program probably is not the type of news creating widespread interest.

Nevertheless, in terms of civic achievement and promise for the future it is one of the most important local developments of recent years.

Marion has a good, if hard-earned, reputation for passage of school issues. This city and county also have done quite well with obtaining funds for certain building facilities, such as General Hospital, Memorial Coliseum and Municipal Airport.

But the sewer program, which will be financed initially from the sewer service charge, is the first major municipal service project to get off the ground in quite a few years.

Two prior civic endeavors of a highly controversial nature—city charter government and a traffic construction program—were defeated at the polls.

The sewer construction is of vital importance for at least two reasons—it will correct serious deficiencies in Marion's present sewerage system and in its later phases will provide the potential for large-scale housing expansion in the county.

The area's entire industrial growth outlook hinges directly on the possibility of increased housing facilities.

It is quite a feat to move a civic project through the maze of legislation and administrative steps inherent in the democratic process. Some delays are necessary and some are not, but they all are part of the system of government which we prize so highly.

This sewer project has gone through the test of fire with greater speed and ease than most undertakings of its type.

Yet it was in October, 1955, that action was first instituted by the mayor (then Harold Robinson) and City Council to seek funds for a sewer survey.

Almost 17 months later the sewer construction program becomes a reality, and it is an accomplishment of which the entire city should be proud.

Back to the Canal

Final clearing of the Suez Canal puts it back into the news it created late in 1956 when the dispute over its control exploded in war.

It was evident then and more evident now that Suez is as close to the United States as the price of gasoline and tomorrow's headlines. It is closer in many ways than this country's government-owned Panama Canal, whose operation is so undramatically routine that Americans never think about it.

There may be more occasions to think about it as the Suez Canal reopens, because Egypt is proposing that Suez be run like Panama.

This infuriated the British and French, who thought Suez should be run as a Franco-British concession on Egyptian soil. They had to concede Egypt's claim that it had every legal right to nationalize its own property, but they were unwilling to concede Egypt's right to operate its own property.

The United States tried to set up a compromise that would please both sides. It had no success. This time it no longer needs to look for a compromise.

Egypt owns the Suez Canal and has the right to operate it. If it is willing to operate it as an international waterway, there can be no dispute. The proviso that part of the tolls must be set aside for upkeep and improvements cannot even be questioned because it was proposed by Egypt in the first place, to protect its property.

This Side of Heaven

Pressure on Congress to ban billboard advertising on the new federal highway system is being applied by some people who do not feel that way at all, if they would be honest with themselves.

But they have become so obsessed with the idea that unsightly outdoor advertising should be banned that they have temporarily forgotten about the needs of motorists. They need to realize that most of us live this side of heaven and cannot live by scenery alone.

The driver of an automobile on an expressway has not detached himself from the world merely because he is whizzing over its surface on a nonstop road. He still has to think about his next meal, his next tankful of gas, his night's lodging and other momentous trifles. Much as he may enjoy scenery when there's scenery to be enjoyed, there are times when he would trade all the scenery in the Rockies for the distance to the next motel, with restaurant attached.

Newspapers do not like outdoor advertising. But neither do they like people who get carried away by the idea of using lobbies and lawmaking to get rid of legitimate enterprises which annoy them.

States can and have passed laws regulating billboards. Outdoor advertisers, themselves, have seen the folly of building bad will by unregulated and unsightly practices. No one who has traveled on highways where all important information about gas stations, rest rooms, restaurants, hotels and motels was withheld wants to live in complete and anxious ignorance while traveling on the new 41,000-mile network of super-roads that will be finished 13 years from now.

Inconsistent Court

By David Lawrence

One Rule Should Apply in Football, School Cases

Maybe the Supreme Court of the United States will be surprised to learn about it but down South they are having a field day over the recent decision of the court on professional football which seems to knock the props from under the reasons given by the same court for its ruling on segregation.

Lawrence

Newspapers in the South in a number of editorials are pointing to the inconsistency, if not the hypocrisy, of the judges who have just overturned a long-standing interpretation of the "law of the land" on baseball and substituted for it a new law on football that never has been enacted by Congress.

The language of the Supreme Court in this case, if written into the decision on mixing the schools, would have upheld the "law of the land" as it had been set forth during a period of nearly 60 years.

THE SUPREME COURT, in the latest case declaring that professional football comes under the antitrust laws but professional baseball doesn't, has this to say:

"In 'Toolson' (the 1953 case on baseball) we continued to hold the umbrella over baseball that was placed there some 31 years earlier by 'Federal Baseball' (a previous case). The court did this because it was concluded that more harm would be done in overruling 'Federal Baseball' than in upholding a ruling which at best was of dubious validity.

"Vast efforts had gone into the development and organization of baseball since that decision and enormous capital had been invested in reliance on its permanence. Congress had chosen to make no change.

"All this, combined with the flood of litigation that would follow its repudiation, the harassment that would ensue, and the retroactive effect of such a decision, led the court to the practical result that it should sustain the unequivocal line of authority reaching over many years. . . .

"We, therefore, conclude that the orderly way to eliminate error or discrimination, if any there be, is by legislation and not by court decision."

Yet ever since 1896, when the Supreme Court of the United States upheld the right of the states to carry on "separate but equal" school facilities, enormous amounts of money have been invested by the states in separate schools and a whole system of education has been established over the years based on that decision.

In 1954, however, the Supreme Court overturned the decision and gave not a single reason based on any precedent or historic principle of law, offering instead a vague discourse in the realm of sociology.

CERTAINLY THERE HAS been a "flood of litigation" since, and the Supreme Court has endeavored through court orders to enforce the ruling, while many eminent lawyers, including former Justice Byrnes of the Supreme Court, insist that only Congress can enact the legislation necessary to enforce the 14th amendment and the interpretation given it by the court.

Congress had ample opportunity between 1896 and 1954 to enact laws forbidding segregation in the schools, but did not do so. The 14th amendment, unlike other parts of the Constitution, is not self-executing.

The 14th amendment says specifically that "the Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article."

Borrowing the language of the football-case decision, it could be said that from 1896 to this day "Congress had chosen to make no change" in the matter of desegregation. It could be argued, too, that the "orderly way" is "by legislation and not by court decision."

But it will be noted, that, in the latest case, Justices Frankfurter, Harlan and Brennan insisted that what the Supreme Court had previously decided should stand.

In his dissent, in which Justice Brennan joined, Justice Harlan said:

"If the situation is to be changed, I think it far better to leave it to be dealt with by Congress than for this court to becloud the situation further, either by making untenable distinctions or by discriminatory fiat. . ."

JUSTICE FRANKFURTER in his dissent, stressed the importance of upholding a rule once decided. He wrote:

"But considerations pertaining to "stare decisis' (let stand what has been decided) do raise a serious question for me. That principle is a vital ingredient of law, for it 'embodies an important social policy.' It would disregard the principle for a judge stubbornly to persist in his views on a particular issue after the contrary had become a part of the tissue of the law."

The "separate but equal" doctrine in relation to schools for different races certainly became a vital part of "the tissue of the law," but nine justices, relying on some writings of sociologists, disregarded the principles and precedents of law and made a decision based on personal philosophy.

Indeed, many lawyers who really favor desegregation have hailed the Supreme Court's ruling as "the right decision for the wrong reasons."

THE WAY THE justices have expressed themselves in the latest football case will rise to plague them hereafter when they are confronted with enforcement orders from the lower courts on the desegregation issue.

Already, for example, the Supreme Court of the State of Florida has raised a pertinent question by insisting that a state court is itself the sole judge of when any order shall be put into effect relating to state laws declared invalid.

It holds that this "discretionary process" has to take into account harassment and mischief or violence that may result from any immediate enforcement measures.

New Idea in U.S.A.

By TRUMAN TWILL

"The new active leisure," according to the ad-sloganeers who formerly gave us "more gracious living," is going to call for adjustments.

You can bet on that.

But the idea has been put into circulation and it will have to be lived with — the idea that human beings must burn up their energy while off the job. They traditionally have been urged to burn all their energy while on the job.

Long since gone though not yet forgotten is the human being who thought it was his predestined lot in life to work his tail off, then slump into a comatose condition to build up enough strength to face another day of the same.

The new concept of the work-leisure equation is to conserve energy while on the job so there will be plenty to burn up while off the job — "the new active leisure."

This has been sneaking up on busy Americans gradually, and now it is in the open. People who furtively have been making the necessary adjustments to "active leisure" can be frank about making them now.

They have a slogan and a full-blown excuse for playing while they work and working while they play. It has been incorporated in the American way of life, and in due time it will become un-American to question it.

There are 168 hours in a week. Forty, or less, of this total are devoted to honest toil. Another 50, or less, must be used up in sleeping and cat-napping.

The remaining 78 — more or less — can be dedicated to "active leisure." There will be no lack of advice on how to use the 78 to the best advantage. . . .

It is not going to be a joke any more that workers come back to their jobs to rest up from their play. If they become as active as the ad-sloganeers intend to make them be, they will wind up with medical advice to quit playing so hard and work more to lengthen their life expectancy.

The once-familiar sight of a family breadwinner storing up energy while sitting on the porch in his sock feet and undershirt will be as quaint and outlandish as the blacksmith shop.

All play and no work will make Jack a tired boy in the bright new world.

There will be a "lost generation"; there always is when emphasis shifts and things move in a new direction. It will be composed of millions born soon enough to believe leisurev is a time of indolence but not late enough to think leisure is a time to be galvanized into action.

It is not going to be easy to make the adjustment. Perhaps it will not be worth the effort, if the net result is merely to learn how to get tired while resting.

Target Practice

By BILL VAUGHAN

If you think Wilt the Stilt makes it tough on the other boys, consider the girls who see the bridal bouquet caught by a 5-foot, 10-inch bridesmaid.

—:—

Experiments on man's ability to resist extreme cold are being conducted, for some reason, at the South Pole instead of at almost any bus stop these mornings.

—:—

Players on the various Major-League teams are busily insulting one another, which is the kind of thing that makes baseball news when there is no baseball news.

Daily Bible Thought

When we make ourselves channels of divine love and wisdom and power we are indeed strengthened. Paul's amazing life proves this. He was a man in bodily presence weak who turned the world upside down. "The Lord stood by me and strengthened me."—2 Tim. 4:17.

Senate To Select Its Five Greatest

By Charles Bartlett

WASHINGTON — Faced with a choice that may prove as prickly as the judgment of Paris, five members of a special Senate committee must sit down before May 1 and name the five greatest senators of all time.

The purpose of this determination, which will be subject to the approval of the entire Senate, is to select the subjects of paintings to hang in five honored places in the Senate reception room.

Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson conceived the project last June and turned it over to a committee headed by Sen. John F. Kennedy whose book on the careers of courageous senators has been on the best-seller lists for 14 months.

THE GOLDEN APPLE of discord is not as likely to lie in the selection of the greatest senators before 1900 as it is in the choice of the men of the past 50 years who deserve recognition.

The area of controversy is somewhat limited by the requirement that a senator must be dead to qualify but the problem is enhanced by the fact that the heroes of the dramatic Senate period before the Civil War threaten to claim a major portion of the available spaces.

There exists a clear consensus that men like Daniel Webster, Henry Clay, John Calhoun, Stephen Douglas and Thomas Hart Benton must loom large in any consideration of great senators.

But if as many as three of these men from one epoch of history are accepted, only two vacancies will remain for recognition of another 140 years of Senate sessions.

This would mean that Sen. Kennedy's committee is confronted with the task of picking two from a list of such 20th century figures as George Norris, Robert A. Taft, Robert La Follette Jr., Arthur Vandenberg, Robert Wagner, Alben Barkley and Oscar Underwood.

AND IF THE TWO remaining spaces go to senators of this century, there will have been no recognition of the nation's early history and of such men as Oliver Ellsworth and John Quincy Adams.

The ultimate decisions will not be made easy by the make-up of the selections committee, which is composed of five strong personalities with diverse backgrounds and definite opinions.

Aside from Sen. Kennedy, there is a conservative southern Democrat, Richard Russell; a liberal westerner, Mike Mansfield and two conservative Republicans, Styles Bridges and John W. Bricker.

This group may be expected to have considerably less than a uniform view toward men like Sens. Norris, La Follette, Taft, and Wagner who projected issues which survive to this day.

Perhaps no one of these men will succeed in making the list unless there is a bald trade among the divergent elements of the selection committee.

Thus they might agree to take both Sens. Norris and Taft or Sens. Wagner and Taft but the situation is complicated by evidences of a sentimental urge in some senators to honor Sen. Barkley, who died last april.

The language of the resolution under which the choice must be made is unclear as to whether the decision of the committee shall be final and it may develop that the recommendations which are brought to the floor may be made subject to amendment.

Sen. Kennedy named last year an advisory committee of nine historians under professor Allan Nevins of Columbia to establish criteria for the decision.

They recommended that the senators should be chosen without regard for service in any other office; that they be distinguished for statesmanship transcending party and state lines and that the definition of statesmanship may include leadership in national thought and constitutional interpretation.

The Court and the UAW

By Raymond Moley

In an article last week I commented briefly on the decision of the Supreme Court which upheld the indictment of the United Automobile Workers and declared that this union must stand trial for using its general funds for political purposes, in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Since then I have had an opportunity to examine in detail the entire text of Justice Frankfurter's opinion and the dissent by Justice Douglas.

This examination has prompted no change in the comment that I made but confirms my original suggestion that the issues raised are basic to the entire electoral process and the Constitutional system under which we live.

Indeed, that is precisely what Justice Frankfurter points out in a long, 25-page opinion.

He begins by reciting the abuses in the early years of the 20th century which gave rise to the law of 1907 prohibiting corporations from making contributions in connection with any federal election.

-:-

THIS, HE SAYS, was to prevent abuses which involved "the integrity of our electoral process and, no less, the responsibility of the individual citizen for the successful functioning of the process."

The present case involving the UAW "raises issues not less than basic to a democratic society."

To sustain this judgment Justice Frankfurter notes the fact that World War II conditions "enormously stimulated" the power of organized labor and soon "aroused consciousness of its power outside the ranks."

The powerful unions, he continued, were believed to be pursuing a course similar to that of the corporations 40 years before and "with the same untoward consequences."

This, Justice Frankfurter explained, was shown by "the enormous financial outlays" said to have been made by some unions in the national elections of 1944.

It was as a result of these conditions that there was included in the Taft-Hartley Act a prohibition on unions as well as corporations.

It should be noted that this prohibition concerned not only "contributions" but "expenditures."

Certainly the union heads cannot fairly charge Justice Frankfurter with any lack of sympathy for organized labor. There has been no greater spokesman and supporter of labor in this generation.

-:-

WHAT HE IS DOING is to note an abuse which, if not restrained, will impair not only unions' legitimate activities but the entire system of free elections upon which they must depend.

The dissenting opinion of Justice Douglas, with which the Chief Justice and Justice Black concurred, is at its best a poor piece of workmanship and in its implications disastrous.

These justices would apparently open, under the rights specified in the First Amendment, a return to the corruption, waste and injustice which were the original reasons for the prohibition on corporations in 1907.

This debauchery would be joined to the vast operations of the now powerful unions.

The real issue involved, which is the spending by union officers of dues collected from all union members for purposes which many of them disprove, is dismissed with the preposterous suggestion that minority members who do not want to support the candidates selected by the leaders should be permitted "to withdraw their funds."

-:-

HOW THIS COULD be done when all union dues are merged in the treasuries of the unions, the justice does not say.

When the Labor government came in, it changed the procedure to "contracting out." This means that the member's money can be used if he enters no specific objection. Obviously, this is a great advantage to the union.

Western Quiz Show

With westerns and super-quiz shows enjoying major following by TV fans, it seems to this department that there could be a merging of formats. The injection of a jackpot touch into cowboy films could be of terrific appeal to video addicts.

Fancy the thrills from watching the Wells Fargo delivery of jackpot gold being intercepted by some Jesse James who turns out to be a fellow who couldn't give the name of the king of the Belgians but who is determined to get the dough just the same!

Imagine the arrival at Dead Gulch of the eastern schoolma'am who meets the handsome cowboy and agrees to tutor him for his coming tangle with the town badman under the category of Greek Mythology!

-:-

WE CAN HEAR LINES from the dialogue now. . . . "I've got you covered. Who is the present ruler of Afghanistan?"

"You stay here and watch for the Injuns while I go for the $64,000."

"We don't like your kind around here. You look like the type that quits at the $4,000 mark and takes a Cadillac."

"I'm sheriff here and nobody starts listening to music and identifying tunes and composers until he checks his guns."

"They went thataway carrying the jackpot without stopping to pay the federal and state tax."

"The Bar X ranch has been losing a lot of longhorns to your gang. You want to quit at 800 head of cattle or go for 1,000?"

"Stranger, you came by coach between 8:30 and 10:30 last night. Anybody not at home listening to a jackpot program at these hours is open to suspicion. What's your alibi?"

"Go for your encyclopedia and let's shoot this quiz out here and now."

-:-

"YOU'RE REPUTED to be a fast man with your six-gun. I'm pretty good, too. We'll stand back to back, each walk 20 paces and the sheriff will ask the question, 'In what year was Oklahoma admitted to the Union?' He won't repeat the question and he'll give us 10 seconds. The first man up with the answers starts shooting."

" 'Bat' Whipple, riding shotgun on the Denver coach was shot at Skull and Bones Valley an hour back. He was the best informed man around these parts and could answer all questions on opera, baseball, or geology. I've asked the government to send troops so we can get the killer." . . .

"The Sioux Indians are restless. They say the white man gets on all the big quiz shows and they can't even make the Linkletter program." . . . Etc., etc.

HOW ABOUT A WESTERN, in fact featuring "Hopalong" Van Doren and "Roy" Nadler, with Wyatt Earp as the town marshal chucking into the calaboose anybody who makes the questions too hard?

We'd love to see one of those gun-blazing pursuits around the boulders and over the river-beds, with one cowboy group representing the contestants and the other group depicting the revenue collectors.

SPEAKING OF TOP QUIZ shows it seems to us that Charles Van Doren, who stands to get only $29,000 of his record winnings while the tax department takes about $96,000, can legitimately claim some exemptions.

As for example: Expenditures for nerve tonics and tranquilizers between contests.

Damage to human system due to nightmares in which contestant thinks he is caught in a hot booth all night, surrounded by revenue men.

Traveling expenses.

If Van Doren really is allowed to keep so little of his winnings, it could be said that Uncle Sam not only expects quiz show champs to give blood, but tired blood.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — In the boldest move witnessed since the threat to American lives was instigated by German submarine warfare, President Wilson called a special session of Congress to meet April 2. Meanwhile cabinet officers stepped up all defense preparations in the event that open war should be declared.

The American Jewish Relief Committee in New York City announced a coast to coast campaign to raise $10,000,000 to save 3,000,000 Jews in the eastern war zone from starving to death.

The success of the Russian revolution was credited with causing agitation and serious riots in parts of Germany. Dresden, Leipsig and Munich were the scene of rebellions in which troops were used to quell the disorders.

—:—

20 YEARS AGO — Amelia Earhart escaped injury when her plane skidded and crashed while she was attempting to take off from Honolulu on her record making flight of spanning the globe in 180 hours. A flat tire was responsible for the mishap which succeeded in "postponing, but not cancelling" her trip around the globe, in Miss Earhart's own words. The accident not only set fire to the plane, but crippled it as well.

Palm Sunday services were observed in churches throughout the Marion area.

Mrs. Charles Phillipi, 49, of E. Mark St., suffered minor injuries when she was struck and knocked down by an auto on E. Center St. in one of seven weekend accidents reported to police.

10 YEARS AGO — In spite of numerous precautions being taken against the spread of the local flu epidemic, health officials reported the spread of the disease had not subsided, with the peak yet in view. Persons were warned to stay out of crowds.

Spring was ushered into Marion with snow flurries and a temperature slightly above the freezing mark. The weatherman came up with a reassuring forecast, however, when he predicted moderating temperatures and clearing for the following day.

Plans for the organization of a federalized German nation were advanced by U.S. Secretary Marshall and Britain's Ernest Bevin as sessions of the Big Four continued to be stalemated in Moscow by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's disagreement with nearly every proposal.

THE 40th ANNIVERSARY of the organization of the Burroughs Nature Club was observed by the members with a program and social meeting Monday evening at the Dixie tearoom. Miss Isabelle Stump, president, presided, and for roll call the members named the year they affiliated with the club. Miss Marie Ruehrmund gave a nature poem and Miss DeEmma Hawley an original reading, "Everybody's Got Bugs." Miss Lela Brookshire's topic was "How We Provided for the Birds," and a review of the club's Arbor Day observances was by Miss Bessie L. Snider. Reminiscenses of events through the years were given by the members and honored for services were Miss Alice Caulfield, Mrs. Frank D. Bentz, Miss Snider and Mrs. Ray Romine. The citations were read by Mrs. Evalona Glasener.

During the business session plans were discussed for a field trip to Oak Openings on April 13, and the annual guest party April 15. The social event will be held in the community rooms of the West Town Branch of the National City Bank and at this time the speaker will be Edward S. Thomas of Columbus, curator of natural history at the Ohio State Museum. The members went on record as protesting the placing of the quail on the game bird list.

Serving on the hostess committee were Mrs. Charles J. Rodman, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harold Sherrer, Mrs. Clyde Morehouse, Miss Marie Stull and Miss Edna S. Dutton. Arrangements for the program were in charge of Mrs. John H. Clark, chairman, Miss Snider, Miss Grace Wingett, Mrs. Glasener, Miss Brookshire and Miss Hawley.

Dessert was served from a table decorated with an arrangement of forsythia.

The club was organized March 19, 1917 at a meeting held in the City Library. Charter members are Mrs. C. H. Conley and Miss Wingett.

Next meeting of the Junior Composers will be April 20 and of Phi of Ohio Chapter, April 14.

Students From Edison Will Present Two Plays

A combined cast of 17 Edison freshmen will join talents today and Friday in presenting two playlets, "Who's Afraid" and "Bobby Sox."

The matinee performance was scheduled for this afternoon at 3:45 p.m. while the evening performance will be given Friday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Directing "Who's Afraid" is Mrs Helen Franks while "Bobby Sox" is under the direction of Howard Quinn.

Tickets may be purchased from any freshman or at the door. Friday night's admission is 35 cents.

Church Activities

Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held May 9-10 when the Senior Bible Class of Emanuel Lutheran Church met Tuesday night at the church.

Highlight of the program was a talk by Miss Helen May, a teacher at Eber Baker Junior High School, on her tour of Europe. She also showed many pictures. Also for the program, two vocal numbers were given by David Freshour, accompanied by Miss Betty Massic.

Refreshments were served at a table decorated in keeping with St Patrick's Day. On the committee were Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Rengert, Mrs Samuel Zimmerman, Mrs. A. M. Bufford, Mrs. Matilda Laucher, Mrs Matilda Sinning and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bolinger.

Host and hostess for a meeting of the Grand Prairie Baptist Watch Us Grow Class Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brammell. Mrs. Robert Turney assisted Mrs. Brammell in serving.

Allan Rowlinson presided and Mrs. Charles Riley led group singing. Devotions by Richard Brooks were based on Psalm 119, verse 11, "Thy word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against thee." It was reported that a previous offering was sent to Gail Buckley, formerly a Morral resident and now a student at Greenville College in Illinois. A letter of appreciation from him to the class was read. Mrs. Allan Rowlinson and Mrs. Archie Rice were in charge of games and contests and prizes went to Mrs. Richard Brooks and Robert Turney.

Boy, 16, Escapes Injury As Car Leaves Highway

BUCYRUS — A Bucyrus area youth's car went out of control on the old Nevada Road about two miles west of Bucyrus at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday, patrolmen of the local post reported.

The westbound car driven by Charles Cooper, 16, swerved off the left side of the road on a curve and crossed the pavement again to plow through a fence and come to rest in a field.

Patrolmen said minor damage was done to the auto and the driver was uninjured.

Hospital Week Observance Set By Local Group

Plans for the observance of Hospital Week May 12-18 were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Snack Shop Auxiliary to the Marion General Hospital Wednesday morning in the hospital cafeteria. Mrs Rodney Cox, vice president, presided.

Miss Irene Tinklepaugh, hospital administrator, announced the dates for Hospital Week and explained the educational benefits and purpose of the program. It was announced a special recruitment program for potential students for the School of Practical Nurses will be launched in April.

Plans for the observance of Hospital Week include open house at the hospital on May 12. Posters announcing the observance will be placed in the schools and in business places of the city and county.

At the open house the general public will be taken on tours of the hospital and refreshments will be served. Serving as hostesses will be Mrs. James S. Greetham, Mrs Cox, Mrs. William Leffler, Mrs C. M. Stubbs, Mrs. Maurice Cornell, Mrs. Ray Finney, Mrs. Richard Mills Jr., Mrs. Theodore Hufert and Mrs. A. S. Messenger.

It was announced several of the members will attend the convention of the Ohio Hospital Association to be held in Cleveland April 3. Anyone planning to attend is asked to contact Mrs. Cox or Mrs. Greetham.

It was voted to send a local instructor to a practical nursing conference to be held in Chicago May 4 to 10. The convention will be held in conjunction with the National League for Nursing.

25th Anniversary Marked by DAV At Dinner Session

Marion Chapter No. 22, Disabled American Veterans, celebrated the 25th anniversary of the granting of its congressional charter with a dinner Tuesday night at the Veterans Memorial.

Guest speakers were Clayton Protsman of Elida, third district commander, and Edward L. Knight of West Jefferson, past state commander. State Commander Kenneth Robey of Dayton, who was scheduled to address the meeting, is hospitalized in Dayton as the result of a recent automobile accident.

The speakers summarized the 25 years of the DAV and cited the general "chaotic" conditions of the veterans program at the end of World War I in comparison to the national rehabilitation program of today.

They pointed out that disabled veterans should not be too hasty in making requests for changes in their status under the provisions of the VA. They explained various other phases of the Veterans Administration.

The commander of the Marysville Chapter was introduced to the group by Ralph Westcott, commander of Marion Chapter. Adjutant Emmett Huntsman was in charge of dinner arrangements.

Olympic Star, Czech Fiancee Will Be Wed

VIENNA (AP) — Harold Connolly, U. S. Olympics hammer throw champ, disclosed today that the Communist Czech government has given him permission to wed Olga Fikotova, the Czech Olympic discus star.

Harold met Olga and won her heart at the Melbourne Olympic games.

In a telephone call from the home of his fiance's parents in Prague, Harold said he and Olga would be married in the Czech capital on March 27.

He said the Czechs had given Olga permission to leave the country at any time and he plans to take her as his bride to Boston, Mass., where he is a high school history teacher.

The Czech government had kept the 26-year-old Connolly and Olga, 24, dangling since March 6 on their plea for permission to marry.

Connolly went to Prague late in February to press his suit, and Olga went personally to President Antonin Zapotocky to present her plea to be allowed to marry the American.

The state's permission was necessary for a Czechoslovak national to marry a foreigner. The government apparently was particularly reluctant to lose one of its star athletes.

The U. S. State Department had no objection to the match. "We believe in romance," U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference on March 5.

Industrial Safety Month Is Proclaimed by Mayor

Mayor Gale D. Ireland today issued a proclamation for observance of "Industrial Safety Mobilization Month" in Marion during April.

Mayor Ireland called upon citizens "to give thought and action toward the elimination of existing industrial accident hazards." He further urged that persons working in the field of industrial safety take advantage of the All-Ohio Safety Congress to be held in Columbus April 9, 10 and 11.

Jesus Loved Them

By Patrick and Garrison

ANDREW

"One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother."
—John 1:40

Andrew, like his brother Simon Peter, was a fisherman residing in the town of Bethsaida on the shore of Galilee.

A follower of John the Baptist, by whom he was directed to Jesus, he at once recognized the Nazarene as the Messiah, and hastened to conduct Simon to Him.

In the Gospel lists of the Twelve, he is always named among the first four who were called to discipleship.

The Scriptural narrative indicates that during Jesus' ministry, Andrew was a constant companion. He was present at the Last Supper; he was among the group of disciples to whom Jesus appeared after His resurrection; he witnessed the Ascension; and he shared in the glories of Pentecost.

Although he, like almost all the others of the Twelve, did not show open revolt during the trial and crucifixion of his Master, Andrew apparently did not lack courage.

Ancient writers say that he went as a missionary through Sythia and adjoining countries, an undertaking which, in those days involved not only the usual hazards of travel, but the likelihood of arousing the wrath of pagan rulers who mercilessly put to death the preachers of the new doctrine of Christianity

Andrew's travels are said to have taken him through Thrace, Macedonia, Cappadocia, Galatia, Bithynia and Achaia. It is conjectured that he founded a church in Constantinople, but there is no conclusive historical record of his having done so.

Most historians agree that his career had its tragic end at Patrae, a city of Achaia. There the proconsul, Aegeas, outraged by Andrew's preaching, ordered him to offer a sacrifice to the pagan gods. The Apostle refused, whereupon the Roman governor had him scourged and crucified.

To make his death more painful, he was bound rather than nailed to the cross (commonly held to be in the shape of an X). After hanging in agony for two days, he is said to have died on Nov. 30, A.D. 60.

Later he came to be revered as the chief patron of both Russia and Scotland.

BPW Club Shows Toys Destined for Children in Center

Toys for children at the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation, brought by Business and Professional Women's Club members, were on display at a potluck dinner meeting Wednesday night. The event was held in the home service center of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. offices. This was a combined dinner and business meeting which replaced the regularly scheduled dinner meeting which was canceled because of Ash Wednesday. Miss Mary K. Miley presided for business.

Members voted to sponsor a child from the school patrol on the annual trip to Washington, D.C. Invitations were received for Founders Day observances of the Newark BPW Club April 22 and Lancaster BPW April 4, from the Columbus club for a national security dinner meeting March 28 and a small business clinic of the Ohio Federation of BPW Clubs in Columbus April 6.

A dinner meeting of the local club for the purpose of honoring 11 new members will be held April 3 at Hotel Harding with the state federation chairman present. The meeting is being arranged by the membership and federation committees headed by Mrs. Verna Osborn and Miss Mary Martha Luke respectively. During a social hour following, directed by Mrs. Clara Alice Wilson, prize in games went to Miss Lodemia Weaver and Miss Garnet Laird was consoled.

77-Bed Facility at Nelsonville

New Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital Dedication Set

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Ceremonies dedicating the state's new Southeast Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital at nearby Nelsonville will be conducted March 29.

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, said Gov. C. William O'Neill will be speaker at the dedication.

The hospital will be open to public view March 30 and 31.

The 1½ million dollar structure, under supervision of the Ohio Department of Health, will serve all the people of Ohio, Dr. Dwork said. He added, however, that it's expected most of the patients will come from a 14-county area bordering by U. S. 40 and the Scioto River.

Counties in this area include Athens, Fairfield, Gallia, Guernsey, Hocking, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Perry, Vinton and Washington.

Dr. Dwork said the 77-bed hospital has modern diagnostic and treatment services for tuberculosis patients and outpatients.

The hospital, he said, "will fulfill a long-felt need in southeastern Ohio, and will be a model of tuberculosis hospital design of this size."

The three-story structure was designed by Dan A. Carmichael, Columbus architect.

A staff of approximately 10 will care for patients in the hospital, under the medical direction of Dr. Harold H. Cashman, former superintendent of the Belmont Sanatorium, St. Clairsville. Robert W. Stuart is the new hospital's administrator.

Dr. Dwork said the federal government granted $350,000 toward construction of the hospital. Cost of equipping the TB center was $188,000.

Offices, medical services, eating facilities, patient and outpatient services are located on the ground floor. There is an operating room for minor or emergency surgery, as well as a complete laboratory.

Recreation, movies and religious services, Dr. Dwork said, will be held in the 108-seat auditorium, also situated on the ground floor.

There are 17 two-bed rooms and four one-bed rooms on the second floor, providing accommodations for 38 patients. The top floor has beds for 39 patients, accommodated in 17 two-bed rooms and five one-bed rooms.

Some 150 persons from the 14-county area including state legislators, Trudeau Society officials, county commissioners and other health officials have been invited to participate in the ceremonies.

Runs Out of Vaccine

CLEVELAND (AP)—More than 1,000 persons gathered at the high school in suburban Bedford Wednesday night to receive their first polio shot, but the supply of vaccine was exhausted after only 130 had been inoculated.

A doctor administering the program under the auspices of the Maple Heights chapter of B'nai B'rith, said he had been unable to get anymore vaccine in three days of telephone calls to possible sources in and outside of Cuyahoga County.

Rev. Turner Named

Rev. F. M. Turner who serves the Salem Church of God on Gracely Pk. has been selected as evangelistic representative to the denomination's national commission on evangelism. He and his wife, Rev. Ruth Turner, are accredited evangelists of the Church of God. Selection of Rev. Turner to the position was made by the executive board of the Churches of God in North America, top body of the denomination.

Fugitive Captured

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A 41-year-old man wanted in Ohio, Florida, Massachusetts, Michigan, Kentucky and Louisiana, was arrested here by the FBI Wednesday. Frank Claude Rumney of Atlanta was wanted for violation of interstate transportation of stolen property, for impersonation of a federal officer and as a conditional release violator, the FBI said.

The Jordan River, subject of arguments between the Arab and Israeli forces, is known as the "Down-Comer" in Hebrew. It is 700 feet below sea level at the Sea of Galilee, and finally empties into the Dead Sea 1,286 feet below the level of the Mediterranean.

Chicago Postdebutante Weds Multi-Millionaire Sportsman

CHICAGO (AP)—A young Chicago postdebutante, who had ambitions for a stage career, has become the third wife of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, multi-millionaire sportsman, her parents disclosed Wednesday.

Vanderbilt, 44-year-old heir to one of America's greatest fortunes and Jean Harvey, 20, member of a socially prominent and pioneer Chicago family, were married in Mexico City March 12, her parents said.

The bride's mother Mrs. Daggett Harvey said none of the family members attended the wedding. She added that Vanderbilt and his bride now are in Florida and probably will live in his Long Island, N.Y., home.

Vanderbilt, owner of Native Dancer among other famed race horses, was divorced last December by Mrs. Jeanne Murray Vanderbilt in Gooding, Idaho. They have two children. His first marriage, to the former Manuela Hudson in 1938, ended in divorce in 1942. They have a daughter, Wendie.

In recent months Miss Harvey had been in New York City studying dramatics in preparation for a stage career and Vanderbilt had been her frequent escort.

Tribunal Agrees To Study Issue

Ohio Fair Trade Laws Slated for Court Review

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to study the question whether a person without a contract can sell anti-freeze at a lower price than his competitor who has a contract with the maker.

At stake is a review of Ohio's fair trade laws.

Bargain Fair, Inc. of Mentor asked the high court to release it from an injunction issued in Lake County against the sale of Prestone anti-freeze below the minimum price set in fair trade statutes.

Instituted Action

The injunction was issued at the request of union carbide and Carbon Co., maker of Prestone

Bargain Fair and Mentor Brands, Inc. maintained they should not be restricted to the fair trade price since they did not sign a fair trade contract with Union Carbide, and fair trade prices do not apply to non-signers.

The court also:

Refused to consider the appeal of Mayor Joseph Catone of Girard, a Youngstown suburb, from decisions holding that Herman Sacolick was entitled to a special permit for a junk yard despite an ordinance ban.

Unanimously affirmed a Mahoning County Appellate Court decision that the Bremer Foundation, Ind., was subject to state succession taxes.

To Handle Estate

The Foundation was created to handle the estate of the late Richard P. Bremer whose will left his estate in equal parts for medical care of the poor and for the advancement of medical science. The appellate court reversed a probate court ruling that the foundation was exempt from inheritance tax.

Declined to rule on the constitutionality of a 1955 law providing for election of Union County Agricultural Society members in a taxpayer's action by Otto Rausch against the county election board.

Delinquent Taxes Total $62,000 Here

Marion County had a tax and special assessment delinquency amounting to $62,772 in 1956, according to Edward W. Wolfe, executive director of the Ohio Public Expenditure Council.

The report, released today, compares the above figure with a total of $55,816 delinquent in 1955. Both figures are, however, considerably lower than the $66,707 recorded for the county in 1954

The amount of delinquency for Marion's surrounding counties during 1956 was as follows: Morrow, $35,311, Crawford, $74,600; Delaware, $178,997; Hardin, $29,934; Union, $53,083; and Wyandot, $29,495.

Only Crawford and Hardin counties recorded declines in tax and special assessment delinquencies from the year before, the report notes. Crawford's delinquency total fell from $78,780 in 1955, while Hardin county's total was down from $33,918 for the same period

'Exciting' Gains Are Reported in Cancer Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Exciting" progress in medical studies of viruses as a possible cause and cure of cancer has been reported to Congress.

Among other things, Congress has been told that medical researchers of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases have now been able to "train" certain virus strains capable of destroying living human cancers growing in rats.

And Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, described virus findings as "very exciting in the last year or so." He said research has learned that certain virus strains can "literally knock a hole" in some forms of cancer.

Medium Priced Autos Hold Own, Ward's Says

DETROIT (AP) — Medium price automobiles are resisting further invasion of their market by lower price makes, Ward's Automotive Reports said in its current issue

The trade publication said

"On the basis of March new car sales noted thus far, the low-price field models are continuing to garner 60 per cent of the new auto market

"This means that between 10,000 and 15,000 persons daily are treking to the showrooms for such cars, which is equal to the pace at the same time a year ago.

"Accordingly, despite the unexpectedly high increase in '57 auto prices, there has not been any further withdrawal of medium-price car buyers into the low-price class this year."

Cut Suggested In Welfare and Labor Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee took another big strike today in its budget-cutting drive by recommending reductions of $114,926,700 in new funds requested for the Labor and Welfare departments and related agencies.

It urged the House to appropriate $2,866,350,881 for the fiscal year starting next July 1 instead of the $2,981,277,581 requested by President Eisenhower.

The major part of the cut was in funds for public assistance grants to states, for which the committee voted $1,600,000,000. That figure, $79,400,000 below the amount requested, still is 25 millions more than was appropriated for the current year.

The overall cut of almost 4 per cent hiked to about 800 million dollars reductions recommended by the committee this year in five annual appropriation bills involving presidential requests for about $13,400,000,000.

On four previous measures, the House has gone along with its committee and cut an extra 21 million dollars. None of the bills has passed the Senate. Bills involving requests for about 60 billion dollars more still are in the House Appropriations Committee.

Largest item in the Labor Department budget was 262 million dollars for grants to states for unemployment compensation and employment service administration. This is 8 millions less than was requested but 12 millions more than was appropriated for this year.

operation. Quaker Oats opened the dog food plant here 10 years ago after buying facilities of a former packing plant.

The company has since constructed a warehouse, now used also for manufacturing operations, and has installed modern processing machinery. It just completed installation of an automatic grain handling system with storage facilities for approximately eight carloads of material.

120 Employed

The local plant is one of four Ken-L-Products plants operated by Quaker Oats, which has other food processing plants scattered throughout the United States and in several foreign countries. In addition to food for humans and Ken-L-Products dog food, the company makes feed for livestock, chemicals and cat food.

The local plant has 120 employes working in two shifts to turn out dog food. Eighteen carloads of goods are shipped in and out of the plant each day.

The Ken-L plant will be the biggest customer of the new can plant, using a quarter of a million cans a day.

Space Travel Is Seen 'Common' in 50 Years

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Interplanetary travel will become "commonplace" in the next 50 years, World War I ace Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker predicts.

"In fact," he told an audience of Rotarians Wednesday, "space ships in the year 2007 will be semi-self-sustaining planets in themselves."

Rickenbacker, who is now chairman of the board of Eastern Airlines, also foresaw the day when "nuclear powered guided missiles will reach speeds up to 25,000 miles an hour."

Dockworkers in London Join in Harbor Walkout

LONDON (AP) — Dockworkers struck at the port of Southampton today protesting use of government tugs in aiding the liner Queen Mary to sail for New York. The strike threatened to paralyze the vast terminal.

The dockworkers, mostly shore gangs who handle the direct traffic in the port, joined 10,000 shipyard workers and repairmen who have been on strike since Saturday as part of a nationwide stoppage in support of a 10 per cent wage increase.

Navy Tugs Called

The liner was escorted out of port by navy tugs ordered into service by the British government.

This produced charges of strike breaking from shipyard workers, and their union leaders appealed to the dockworkers to join in a sympathy protest.

The shipyard workers claimed repairs on the 81,000-ton Queen Mary had not been finished when the nationwide shipyard strike began last Saturday. The walkout of 250,000 workmen idled 70 shipyards and stopped work on 300 ships under construction.

Labor Minister Iain MacLeod was fighting two more giant strike threats from unions demanding 10 per cent wage increases, the same percentage boost sought by the shipyard workers.

The threats came from engineering workers, who average $36.24 a week, and railway workers, whose pay ranges from $20.02 for station porters to $30.60 for locomotive engineers. The shipyard workers average $36.24 weekly. The national average wage is just over $30.

Would Affect 2½ Million

The engineering unions already have called a "snowball" strike starting Saturday. It would bring out by stages their 2½ million workers.

A government wage board studying the railwaymen's demands offered a 3 per cent wage increase, but leaders of the 370,000-man National Union of Railwaymen turned it down as an "insult." Hope of further negotiations were kept alive, with rail union leaders continuing their meetings with government representatives who run the nationalized railroads.

County Education Unit Elects Robert McFarlan

Robert McFarlan of Prospect was elected president of the Marion County Education Association at its meeting Wednesday night at LaRue School.

Other officers elected for the coming year were: F. D. Goare, Morral superintendent, vice president; Mrs. Fern Toye of LaRue, secretary, and Miss Lenore Rice of Green Camp, treasurer.

The problem of juvenile delinquency was discussed by a panel of five as follows: Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, moderator; Mary Ann Forry, student from Morral; Rev. Warren Lindstrom, youth director of Marion's Trinity Baptist Church; Don Meredith, Green Camp parent, and E. E. Banning, Pleasant teacher.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Mary Carey of the LaRue faculty with Miss Mary Lou Wynn and Miss Julia Oberdier singing "Whispering Hope."

The LaRue Dance Band under the direction of Richard McConnell opened the program with several numbers.

Mr. McFarlan showed a film strip entitled: "National Education Association Highlights of 1956" to carry out the organization's observance of the national association's centennial.

A tour of the new building and refreshments concluded the program.

DETROIT (AP)—While Rosa Anna Tendler's parents were away on a trip, Rosa opened a letter from Adrian, Mich., police saying that her father owed $1 for illegal parking.

Rosa, 12, promptly mailed in a dollar bill. When her father came back, he hit the ceiling. He had never been in Adrian and told Rosa he wouldn't pay her the dollar back.

Rosa wrote a polite note to Adrian police explaining the situation and asking for return of her dollar. She got it, along with a note of apology — there had been a mixup in license numbers.

Texas Battered by Rain, Snow, Hail, Tornadoes

DALLAS (AP) — Heavy thunderstorms lashed southeast Texas today in the wake of torrential rains and hail storms that struck in central Texas Wednesday, flooding roads and causing streams to overflow.

Five tornadoes also skipped across the state without causing any major damage.

Hail the size of golf balls today battered Texas City, which was flooded by a 10-inch rain Sunday. Hailstones the size of peas piled up at Victoria.

A freak storm blanketed Dalhart with a 3-inch snowfall but the snow in the Panhandle changed to rain early today. The temperature hovered at freezing.

Milkman Appreciates 'Thoughtful' Customer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Carl Serio, pressed for time on a morning when the temperarture was zero, put a cup of too-hot coffee in the milk chute to cool while he finished getting ready for work.

When he returned the coffee was gone.

Serio searched about the hall, then looked outside and there was the milkman drinking the coffee. "Thanks, mighty thoughtful," said the deliveryman

"Nothing at all," said Serio meekly.

Teamsters

Beck would turn over his records once he did appear.

McClellan commented that he did not know the meaning of Beck's "reservations." He said the committee would "undertake to ascertain just what those reservations mean."

Salinger then gave his testimony of his finding as to the purchase of an automobile for Miss James. He quoted her as telling him she was "a long time friend" of McNulty's for about 20 years.

Salinger told newsmen later that Miss James is "middle aged" and that McNulty is 69 years old.

Brewster, called then to the witness stand, identified his signature on the check Salinger had displayed. But Brewster said he had no knowledge of its use to buy a car for Miss James.

Signed Checks in Blank

Brewster said he often signed checks in blank for later issuance by the late Lindey.

Salinger said the car for Miss James was purchased in June 1954. Salinger said Miss James was described to the agency as McNulty's daughter at the time of the purchase.

Jerry N. Griffin, Brewster's counsel, asked McClellan to furnish "some background information" on Salinger, who has dug out many of the records regarding Brewster's affairs.

McClellan told Griffin the committee vouched for all its staff investigators.

"We're not carrying any political baggage on this committee's staff," McClellan said.

Claims $1,800 Paid

Salinger said McNulty claimed that Miss James paid him $1,800 toward the $3,115 purchase price of the car. He quoted McNulty as saying he put up the difference himself and turned the full amount over to Lindey to repay the conference for the original purchase price.

Salinger said investigators found that Miss James withdrew amounts totalling $1,800 from bank accounts at about the time of the car purchase. But he said there is no record on the union books reflecting any repayment for the car purchase price given to McNulty.

Brewster, asked if he had any coment on all this, said "It's all news to me" and that he couldn't explain it.

The hearing, now in its fourth week, started out with testimony linking Teamsters officials with vice operations in Portland. Witnesses said the officials tried to "take over" law enforcement in the city.

Brewster in Spotlight

While the rackets phase of the inquiry slipped into the background the committee dug deep into Brewster's operations — his racing stables, his investments, his use of union funds for non-union purposes. Brewster has said he plans to repay the union whatever he owes it.

Brewster was questioned at length about the dissolution of a racing stable he operated in partnership with George Newell, who now, as an insurance broker, receives a $300,000 a year commission on union pension fund insurance contracts.

The committee asserted that Brewster "came out with a profit of $40,000, Newell, with a loss of $40,000," although a witness said Newell put up most of the money for operating expenses.

Negotiating Settlement

Brewster insisted that he and Newell still were negotiating a settlement and "I'll give him a note and it will be paid."

Brewster told about investing $47,000 of Western Conference of Teamsters union funds in purchase of Campbell soup stock and $46,000 in a Canadian gold mining stock.

He said seven teamsters officials and friends are paying for the Campbell's soup stock at $100 a month plus interest, while the union holds the stock.

He said the mining stock is held entirely by the union. It has declined about 50 per cent in value, Brewster said, but he was "sure" it eventually would show a profit.

Brewster said he and Beck have been getting about $6,000 a year each from a filling station they own jointly. He said it is across the street from the Teamsters Union building in Seattle, and is patronized by union-owned vehicles.

Spring, Summer Styles Exhibited at Local Show

Clothes to see milady through the day and into the evening this spring and the coming summer were modeled for the pleasure of approximately 1,000 of the fairer sex at the "Profile 24" style show sponsored by the Marion County Federation of Women's Club Wednesday evening in the auditorium at Harding High School. In charge of the event were members of the American Home Department.

Stepping from a large picture frame, centering the stage, the models did a turn before the footlights and down the runway before parading through the aisles to give the patrons a closer view of the charming and colorful array of costumes ranging from dusters for morning to smart cocktail and evening wear.

MISS AND MRS. MARION going "truly feminine" in 1957, will find herself up-to-date in skirts and blouses, two piece ensembles, and simple dresses with tricky jackets and capes to give just the right touch for smartness. Navy blue, which can always go anywhere, was a favored color both in plain and touched up with polkadots or plain color, and for the long summer day there were cool cottons in white, pink, yellow and other favored shades. For a fresh, non-wrinkled look there was a white nylon lace over rayon linen, and oriental silk was a new fabric. Raincoats this season are in smart styles and for the beach there are matching skirts to cover milady's bathing suit.

Not to be overlooked is the importance of the hat, gloves, shoes and jewelry to insure that "second look." Pillboxes topped the choice in hats and patent was a favorite for purses and shoes. Jewelry not only was seen but easily heard.

Practically stealing the show were the pre-teen models who went through their paces with the poise of a debutante and received a round of applause from the audience.

—:—

INTERSPERSING the show were musical and dance numbers. The "Hi-Notes," a musical quintet, sang "You'll Never Walk Alone," the Mellowettes sang, "Young Love." Leo Savage entertained with a dance routine. All are from Harding High School.

The Hi-Notes include Ann Dowler, Richelle Lurye, Margaretann Romine, Nancy Waddell and Diane Copeland, and singing in the Mellowettes ensemble were Nancy Jevas, Beth Hanning and Shirley Hill.

Narrator for the show was Miss Madge Cooper, director of women's activities for WMRN, and organ background music was by Mrs. Cecil W. Davis, chairman of the Music Department of the federation. Costumes were from the Sutton & Lightner women's apparel shop.

Special awards were made following the show.

Proceeds of the show will be used to carry on the federation's many community, charity and cultural projects.

Mrs. James Burns, American Home Department chairman, was general chairman for the show and assisting were Mrs. Robert Erickson, Mrs. Wayne Butterworth, Mrs. Jacob Bolinger, Mrs. Jack Arter Jr., Miss Rosemary Osborn, Mrs. William Oliphant and Mrs. Francis Coughlan. Mrs. Lester S. Huhn is president of the federation.

Bucyrus Man Plunges From Car, Hospitalized

BUCYRUS — Crayton Whaley, 22, of Bucyrus, was listed in "fair condition" at Bucyrus Community Hospital this morning after being injured when he plunged from an auto on Route 30-N, four miles west of Bucyrus at 12:45 a.m. today, Bucyrus patrolmen reported.

Whaley reportedly struck his head on the pavement. Patrolmen said the car was traveling at a "normal speed" along the highway and that Whaley apparently jumped from it. Driver of the vehicle was William Burks, 22, of Sycamore.

Patrolmen said Whaley suffered bruises and abrasions of the head and lacerations of the nose, ear and mouth as well as possible internal injuries. He was scheduled for X-rays at the hospital today.

Israeli Village Reports Nasser Once Prisoner

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A former assistant director of Temple de Hirsch says it was easy to decide the most disgruntled group of persons he met during a summer visit to Israel.

In the Negeb community of Mordecai, Rabbi Albert Plotkin talked with Israelites who claimed they once held Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser as a prisoner-of-war.

It was during the Israelite-Egyptian hostilities of 1948 and Nasser, then a lieutenant colonel, had been captured. However, under United Nations terms, he was released within a month.

"As you can imagine," said Rabbi Plotkin, now chief rabbi of Temple Beth Israel at Phoenix, Ariz., "the people of Mordecai are very unhappy he did not remain behind barbed wire."

Officers Reinstated

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Two Police officers demoted May 1 following a Columbiana County grand jury investigation of an East Liverpool burglary scandal in which seven patrolmen were indicted, have been reinstated by Mayor Arnold W. Devon.

The mayor Wednesday swore in Lt. John L. Russell as police chief to replace Acting Chief Robert H. Pyle and Patrolman George B. Kidd as lieutenant to succeed Acting Lt. Robert Duffy.

the millions, the amount held back by the state is too large. It forces contractors to borrow heavily. The cost of this borrowing is reflected in their bids on highway projects and puts the contractors in a financial hole. This prevents them from bidding on future projects until they get paid for past jobs."

The House passed, 99-29, and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing voluntary deductions from the pay of local and public employes for charitable contributions.

The House approved by voice vote a resolution calling for action to rid Chillicothe of an insect-infested swamp near Adena, home of Ohio's first governor, Thomas Worthington. Construction of a highway into the shrine apparently caused the swamp.

The Senate Taxation Committee recommended passage of a House-approved bill to cut the license fee for buses of privately owned transit companies from a present average of $30 a year to $10.

Meanwhile, the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee heard employer groups insist they are asking only for equal treatment in their support of a bill which would ban the use of union dues directly in support of political candidates.

During the first hearing on the bill, representatives of the Ohio Manufacturers Assn., the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants were heard.

The House Education Committee recommended passage of a bill to create a state university in eastern Ohio, but sent the bill to the House Finance Committee because an appropriation to carry out the purposes of the bill obviously would be needed.

'Tapering Off' Program Of Retirement Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Health, Education and Welfare Department says it is trying to work out a "taper off" system of retirement to make aging employes happier and more useful.

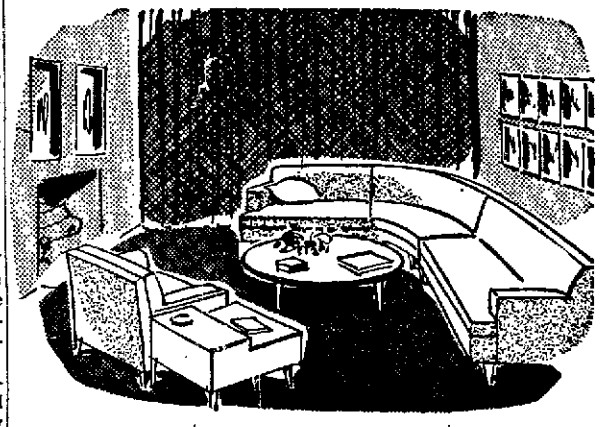
Rufus E. Miles Jr., the department's director of administration, mentioned the plan last month to a House Appropriations Subcommittee. His testimony was published today.

Miles said the department wants "to explore the possibility of new ways within government of having older people taper off on their jobs rather than come up to the end and retire all of a sudden" and "to make better use of people as they get into the later years."

Committee Favors Bill To Assist Telecasters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today recommended passage of a bill giving television broadcasters the same privilege as newsmen against revealing news sources to courts or agencies.

The vote was 12-7. With 12 votes needed for committee approval, Chairman Kenneth Robinson (D-Marion), observed that the measure won committee approval "with much misgiving."



HOSPITALITY LIVES HERE

A home of ease and grace . . . of sociability and hospitality doesn't just happen. It is the result of a carefully thought-out plan faithfully executed.

A well conceived plan takes the dwelling as a whole into consideration suiting the type and style of the furnishings and decor to the architecture insofar as possible. Then each room is considered individually with attention centered on size, location in the house, relationship to adjoining rooms, and —most important of all—on function. Each room must be an integral part of the overall plan.

The home should grow out of the proportions of its rooms, and the proportions of the furniture should be in keeping with the size of the rooms.

A feeling of warmth and friendliness has been achieved in the modern living room sketched above by arranging the conversation group so that every seating unit can take full advantage of the hearth fire. The graceful curves of the long, low sectional sofa relieve the angular severity of the almost square room. The curve has been repeated in the circular hospitality table. Here is a room in the smart mood of today, planned around pleasant inviting sociability.

Like any good merchant, we take pride in what we sell you. We believe our pride is justified because we insist always on giving you high quality, tasteful styling and unquestionable value with every purchase you make from us. So make us your home store, won't you?

Installment Debt in U.S. At $31.5 Billion, Rising

By SAM DAWSON,

NEW YORK (AP) — That living in debt is a way of life for an increasing number of Americans is official today. A government agency study group says so. And it thinks the habit will go on spreading.

This mayn't surprise the millions who together have 31½ billion dollars more to pay on such things as autos, furniture, home appliances and travel, and to the hordes who added about 15 billion dollars to the nation's outstanding mortgage debt total last year

This way of life is most prevalent among younger families and among those with incomes in the middle brackets.

THE STUDY GROUP is the statistical staff of the Federal Reserve Board which had been asked to report on installment credit to President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers It finds that buying goods and services on the cuff and making payments on a house over many years has become widely respectable, especially since World War II.

Families have been putting an average of 11 per cent of their spendable income into installment buying in the last two years, the group reports. It thinks this will gradually rise to 13 or 14 per cent by 1965

Most families pay little attention to how much more this costs them in interest rates and carrying charges The controlling concern is how much the monthly payments will be and if the family income will cover them.

FOR EXAMPLE, the average monthly payment on new cars has stayed around $80 in recent years The rise in total auto financing has come, in addition to the number sold, in the lengthening of the period of payment This has let installment buyers take on higher priced models

Finance companies and auto makers keep a close watch on the volume of repayments For one thing, they want to see the percentage of defaults—which has stayed reassuringly low But mostly they figure that as the final payments near, the motorist becomes a prime candidate for a new car—and a fresh load of monthly payments.

The Federal Reserve group figures that monthly payment terms on autos and appliances have been lowered just about as far as they can be, so it thinks most of the future rise in the total of installment debt will come from the new and growing invasion of the consumer credit filed by the financers of travel, vacations and services, and by the increased emphasis on it by department and other retail stores seeking a larger share of the consumer's spendable dollar, as measured by his income expectations

Firm To Show New Fair Park Home

UNVEILING OF THE "Sweetbriar" model home in the Fair Park Addition on Marion's north side will take place this weekend with an open house slated Saturday and Sunday afternoons The home is located at 536 Roberts Ave , off E Fairground St

The home has three bedrooms, a bath and one-half, large living and dining rooms and a patio at the rear

It was manufactured by the National Homes Corp and put up here by G & G Homes, Inc of Marion It is in the $15,000 price class George Scantland is president of G. & G Homes

The announcement was made simultaneously with an announcement by Mr Scantland that the Fair Park addition will be enlarged to the north to make room for about 1,000 homes

The area will be developed as an entire community, Mr Scantland said, with areas set aside for a shopping center, a new school, a park and swimming pool

Open house will be held at the new home, located at 536 Roberts Ave , from 1 to 7 p m Saturday and Sunday

Mr Scantland said the house was National Homes' version of the model home asked for by the Women's Congress on Housing which told governmental agencies last summer what women wanted in a home

Mr Scantland said that when Fair Park was originally opened, it had space for only 300 homes and could not be considered a real community Now land has been obtained to the north of the original tract and a complete community will be developed, he said

Ten acres of ground have been given to the Marion Board of Education for construction of a new elementary school Mr Scantland reported, and 15 acres have been set aside in the general vicinity of the school for a park A swimming pool will be built in the park and is expected to be dedicated May 30, 1958, he said

Misuse of Funds

By Victor Riesel

Say this for the teamsters: They do better by their ex-presidents than does the United States of America.

VICTOR RIESEL

Up on The Hill, Congress has been squabbling about voting a $25,000 a year pension and a few stenographers for such men as Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman.

But when the Teamsters Brotherhood retires a chief, they do it in style—$50,000 a year and unlimited expenses, for himself and his wife, for life. Also all homes, traveling expenses and "all secretarial help and services" which the man deems necessary.

This is a blue chip constitution the teamsters have. The U.S. Constitution has only a Bill of Rights.

The teamsters' says that its retired president has the right to turn in any bills he rolls up anywhere for anything while working —or "resting."

This was the deal Dave Beck made with old Dan Tobin when the teamos were having a hard time convincing the bull-voiced octegenarian to retire in 1952.

-:-

OLD DAN KNEW his union brethren well and in a convention hotel room roared that he trusted all dedicated to the men behind the wheels—but would they please write it into the teamsters' constitution or he was going back to leading his people. They wrote it in specifically for him and, presumably, those to follow. Dave Beck followed.

There has always been this passionate attachment and personal identification between the teamsters' presidents.

So it comes as no surprise to hear Dave Beck say that he simply borrowed several hundred thousand dollars free of interest from the union's kitty.

There was one moment in Chicago, for example, when Beck refused to face an irate gathering of teamster chiefs who were set to fight him on some issue. He dispatched word through his friend, Nate Shefferman, to the rest of the teamsters' high council that he was going to fly home to Seattle because his wife was not well.

But that was not all. He wanted the union officials to push through a resolution pledging the full support of the teamsters' resources and treasury to him and his wife at this moment of personal crisis.

-:-

THE EMISSARY was told that there just happened to be a slight matter of some 35 million dollars in the kitty. Dave said the hell with it.

He had served his teamsters well, he shouted, and he wanted that resolution passed. It didn't go through. And Beck flew back to Seattle, dependent only on his own millions.

These are not inconsiderable. That's what's surprising about Beck's unsecured borrowing from his unions. He just didn't need to save the $10,000 or $12,000 in interest charges.

His own financial activities are so intricate that he once set up something called the "B and B investment Co." This gathers the money made by all other Beck ventures—including most of his union salary.

It is strictly a personal, unincorporated outfit established on the advice of his income tax experts, who are many and who have much to keep them busy—especially these days.

Much has been written about Beck's real estate companies, mortgages on the homes of the husky men who live in a cluster around his own home and his Wall Street transactions.

Typical of these are his Alaskan ventures which do over a million dollars worth of business in that territory alone.

-:-

SO THERE SEEMS to be no sense in his borrowing from the unions. But Beck never really makes senseless moves. Somewhere there's a mighty startling story in all this.

Some of the senators on the select committee want to know, for example, how long it took between the time Beck borrowed the several hundred thousand dollars and the time he repaid the money.

They're asking, who really owns the real estate for which the borrowed union money paid.

Did the union own the gilt parcels? Suppose those chunks of land had lost their value? Would Beck have lost it personally or would the union have been taking the cut?

If Beck had the money to return the loans in an emergency, why did he borrow the dough? If not, wasn't he jeopardizing heavy union dues money?

All this the Senate committee is probing and will reveal.

The committee has his personal income tax returns. And with those you can't argue.

New Food Fan

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

The American husband has become the pioneer of the nation's changing food habits.

Papa (not mama) is the new gay gourmet, the Marco Polo of the U. S. family dinner table.

HAL BOYLE

"Husbands let their wives pick out the staple food items when they go supermarket shopping," said Harold Roth, president of the National Assn. of Specialty Foods Trade.

"But the men themselves are more adventurous. They like to explore the shelves for new and different food tidbits they can surprise their cronies with as snacks served during card games or at cocktail parties.

"Their new interest in different foods also is forcing their wives to pep up their menus. A husband no longer is profoundly grateful to come home to a dinner of beef and potatoes. After all, he can get that at a business lunch any day in the week."

This new male interest in a varied diet has spurted the fancy food industry from a pre-war annual level of about 10 million dollars to nearly 50 million today, a potential market of 100 million within another decade.

An old-time grocer once drily defined a specialty food as "one that gathers dust." That is no longer true. Hundreds of unusual and exotic specialties now are stocked in more than 4,000 fancy food stores across America. Many supermarkets also feature them.

—:—

TYPICAL SPECIALTY items: "Kissproof garlic," imported pate de foie at $35 a pound, charcoal sauce, mayonnaise in tubes like toothpaste, Japanese smoked oysters, canned kangaroo tail and sharkfin soups—even floral lollipops for the kids.

What has caused this upsurge of interest in out-of-the-ordinary foods?

Roth believes it is a result of prosperity, wider travel, the fact that millions of American men have served overseas, and that desire to put more spice in the routine of suburban living.

But he is annoyed at pranksters who startle their cocktail guests by serving them, unwarned, such dubious delicacies as rattlesnake meat, fried grasshoppers and fried Mexican worms.

"These things may gave a limited circle of genuine admirers," he said, "but they offend the squeamish and make them afraid to try new dishes they might really like."

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

A Marion man was arrested following the single accident investigated Wednesday by patrolmen of the Marion post.

It occurred on Route 4 about four miles south of the city at 10:20 a.m. when a vehicle driven by Harold L. Baker, 33, of 246 Lincoln Ave., came out of Marion County Road 108 onto the highway into the path of a northbound car driven by Kenneth J. Smith, 25, of 271 Nye St., patrolmen said.

The impact of the collision sent the Baker auto to the side of the road where it knocked down a stop sign.

Patrolmen said Baker was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court at a later date on a charge of failure to yield the right of way. Moderate damage was done to his car while minor damage was reportedly done to the Smith auto.

Parked Car Hit

In the only traffic accident reported today by Marion police, a parked car belonging to William M. Burggraff of 334 N. State St. was extensively damaged at 1:18 a.m. today when struck by an eastbound auto on E. Farming St. Police said the driver of the car was Robert L. Hogan, 39, of 459 Patterson St.

William Baer, Father Of Local Resident, Dies

William A. Baer, 77, father of Mrs. A. G. Hacker of 187 Johnson St., died of a heart attack Wednesday night in Columbus shortly after his arrival there. He was en route from Florida to his home in Tiffin and had stopped at the home of a son, Lawrence Baer, in Columbus. Though he had been in ill health some time, is death was unexpected. He was a native of Seneca County and was a retired decorator.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Daisy M. Baer; his daughter in Marion; his son in Columbus; another son, Willard A. Baer of Orlando, Fla.; five grandchildren, and a brother, Oliver Baer of Tiffin.

The body was taken to the Turner Funeral Home in Tiffin.

—Delaware—

DELAWARE—Walter C. Cottle, 51, of near Marengo, was arrested Wednesday by Delaware post patrolmen and held in Delaware County jail pending hearing this morning on a charge of driving without a license.

Patrolmen said Cottle was arrested last month on the same charge and failed to appear in court after he was cited.

—Crawford—

BUCYRUS—Four drivers arrested Wednesday by patrolmen of the Bucyrus post were slated to appear in area courts.

Drivers charged with speeding and the court officials before whom they were to appear were: Roger Studer, 23, of New Washington, Mayor Ivan Bogan of North Robinson; Herb Mauritz, 26, of Mansfield, Justice of the Peace Ralph Taylor of Ontario; and Joseph M. Taylor, 21, of Huron, Mayor J. L. Sullivan of Bucyrus.

Mervin Eingle, 25, of Carey, was cited to appear before Mayor Clyde Jenkins of Carey on a charge of failure to have a muffler.

—Juvenile Court—

Elden L. Ziegler, 18, of Marysville, was fined $25 and costs today by Juvenile Court Judge Edward J. Ruzzo. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Judge Ruzzo also fined James Thomas Swinning, 17, of near Peoria, O., $15 and costs and suspended his driver's license until age 18. Swinning was charged with reckless driving.

Killed in Crash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Leean J. Adkins, 33, of nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base, was killed early today in a collision at the junction of U. S. 23 and Ohio 665, about four miles west of the base, the highway patrol said.

Adkins was tentatively identified as a master sergeant assigned to the 91st Air Refueling Squadron. He was alone, the patrol said. Robert L. Wood, 26, Rt. 1, Wilkesboro, N. C., driver of the other car, was injured, but patrolmen said William C. Sloop of North Wilkesboro, N. C., a passenger, escaped injury.

Apaches are nomadic Indian tribes who now live in Arizona and New Mexico.

Spring Sports Squads at Harding Nearing Peak

Prexies' Baseball, Tennis, Golf Teams Step Up Drills

Drill sessions of Harding High School's spring sports teams have shifted into high gear as season openers draw near.

Candidates for spots on the baseball, golf and tennis teams are working overtime in efforts to prepare for season openers next month

"Baseball at Harding this year will depend, in large measure, on how much hustle the squad shows between now and season's end" So said Coach Lou Ralston this morning, in discussing the prospects of the 1957 version of the Prexy diamond crew

With six lettermen back this year, the Presidents hope to improve somewhat on their 6-5 won-lost record of a year ago As of now, 25 candidates are working out daily for the nine positions on the team The group includes 11 seniors, seven juniors and an equal number of sophomores

THE RETURNING lettermen include Dave Gallimore, pitcher, Tic Gruber, two-year numeral winner at first base, Jed Middleton, two-year letterman at second, Jim Anspaugh, a junior letter winner at shortstop, Gary Williams, a senior letterman in left field, and Pete Bailey, two-year numeral winner at third base

"We're the strongest, right now, in the infield," Ralston said today "However," he added, "we have got plenty of strength at all positions and by the time we get the squad cut down to about 15 players by April 13, we should have settled on a fairly competent group of players"

Weather conditions permitting, the Prexies will have their first intra-squad game Saturday with another game scheduled for the following weekend "Those two games, together with the first two on our schedule, should give us a good idea of who can best play what position" Ralston declared

The Harding diamond mentor pointed out that the Prexies will face some tough competition in its 13-game schedule Fremont, Mansfield, Galion and Findlay loom as the potential powerhouses of the schedule, Ralston thinks and he notes that Harding will play two newcomers, Crestline and Bexley Bexley advanced to the regional tournament last year before being defeated

THE FOLLOWING players make up the Harding baseball roster as of now pitchers, Dave Gallmore, Jim Harris, Joe Ambrose, Mike Glasco, Larry Ambrose, Don Conkle, Steve Flesher and Rocky Evans catchers, Bob Smiley, Bud Burnside and Jodie Lenavitt, first base, Tic Gruber and Joe Welty; second, Jed Middleton and Larry Gruber, third, Pete Bailey and Bob Klingel; shortstop, Jim Anspaugh and Phil Reid, left field, Gary Williams; center, Marlo Barrett and Ed Jackson, and right field, James Armbuster, Bill Davidson, Ed White and Dick Penry

The Harding schedule is as follows Bexley, April 6 (there); Fremont, April 12 (there), Delaware, April 13 (there), Galion, April 15 (there) Mansfield, April 17 (here), Crestline, April 18 (here) Findlay, April 23 (here), Mansfield, April 24 (there), Ashland, April 26 (there), Findlay, May 7 (there), Ashland, May 8 (here) Galion, May 14 (here), and Fremont May 17 (here) The Bexley and Delaware games are double-headers and start at 1 p m Other games begin at 4 p m with the exception of the clash with Mansfield there, which starts at 7 p m

With only two lettermen returning from last season, Prexy tennis coach Bill Cover says his team will open the season "with very little experience"

THE HARDING racketmen have nine meets on their spring schedule, including two contests with Delaware, one each with Findlay, Lorain, Elyria, Fremont and Sandusky, and a pair of games with Ottawa In addition, the Prexy tennis team will participate in the Buckeye Conference meet May 10, the district meet at Bowling Green May 18, and the state meet May 24, 25

The lettermen who are being counted on to hold up Prexy prestige across the nets this spring are Bob Bagley and Fred Collins, both in their third year of competition These two will be bolstered by three junior players who saw action last year but did not win numerals This trio is composed of Randy Gallatin, Jerry Griffith and Tom Bishop

Reporting to Coach Cover for the first time this season were Russell James, a senior, Fred Shaffstall, Steve Donithen, and Tom Thackery, all juniors, and sophomores, John McNamara, Jack Clement, Jeff Wise and Steve Meister

"Everyone is still very much in contention for the positions on the team roster," Cover said today "At present, Gallatin, Shaffstall and Wise appear to have the edge

(Turn to HARDING, Page 20)

Caledonia Takes Junior High Basketball Crown

JUNIOR HIGH CHAMPIONS. When the smoke of battle cleared away from the recent Marion County Junior High Basketball tournament, Caledonia s hardcourt squad boasts the trophy and tourney title In the game for top honors, Coach Bill Johnson's boys pummeled Pleasant, 64 12 to win the crown Morral, defeated by Caledonia, 51 32, in semi final play, beat Prospect for consolation honors Members of the Caledonia championship squad are, top row (left to right) Bill Johnson coach and Jim Bayles Rodney Lucas, Jack Roberts, Lowell Baker Jim Perry, Bill Miracle, David Ott Bob Pickett and George Hamric, athletic director Bottom row (left to right) Curt Whiteamire Dwight Hill, John Detwiler, Larry Bigford, Tom Tomlin, Bob Ray, Brad Kile and George Gray.

Cooper, Hogan Pulling Out of Golf Tourneys

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla , (AP) — Most of the touring golf professionals moved on to Fort Lauderdale today for the $5,000 Pro Amateur Tournament at the Coral Ridge Country Club after wrapping up the 36 hole Seminole affair in Palm Beach

Pete Cooper, who tied Walter Burkemo in the Seminole with 139, will return to Lakeland, Fla , where he is building a golf course and Ben Hogan is going back to Dallas, Tex , for a few days

Cooper and Burkemo had identical rounds of 73-66—139 Wednesday over the 6 746 yard Seminole Club course and split $2 800 Cooper picked up first money of $1,700 in winning the St Petersburg Open last Sunday, giving him $3,000 within the week

Hogan and Sam Snead tied for third with 141 and split $1 200

27 States Seek Hike

Nation's Anglers Facing Increase in License Fees

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Writer

In twenty seven states, fish and game officials are asking legislatures to increase the license fees for hunting or fishing

Fifteen of these states are seeking fee boosts for both

Six more states — possibly seven, when the time comes — plan to ask such increases at the next sessions of their legislatures with in two years

Five other states have had increases within the past two years

And this, as the fellow said when he missed the charging rhino, is only the beginning State officials have known for some time they were in for the inevitable storm that accompanies a sharp upgrading of license fees Some of them put off the dread day as long as they could and as a result found — and more are finding — that the increases they get won t even take care of current expenses, to say nothing of expansion

The widespread and similar troubles of state agencies were rounded up by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, which is having enough of its own difficulties to appreciate company

Among the boosts in the hopper at Pennsylvania is a proposed increase of the resident fishing license from $2 59 to $5 00 which would be the highest in the nation However two other states are trying for a tie California, with a current $3 00 tag and Nevada with $3 50 both are asking for $5 00

One state stands against the trend Louisiana not only is not asking an increase, but the last session of the state s lawmakers approved a reduction of resident hunting fees, and — gallant to the last whack of the gavel — excluded the ladies from the necessity of buying a license to go fishing

Ohio Bowlers Open Bids in ABC's Action

FORT WORTH, Tex , (AP) — A pair of the nation's best known teams were to make their bid in the 1957 American Bowling Congress tournament today

They are Telco Tool and S&Z Tool and Die, both from Cleveland, Ohio

The S&Z lineup includes Walter Ward, who has rolled nine ABC sanctioned perfect 300 games

Telco has been Ohio match game champion for three years

Frank Salapatek 32, Blue Island Ill shot a 677 to move into fourth place in the singles

Joe Harris and Joe Gasparovic Hammond, Ind , collaborated for 1,256 and fourth place in the doubles department

The singles lead is held by Dean Overholser Chicago, with 708 Rudy Fassl and Sam Coleman of Cincinnati lead the doubles standings with 1 309

Chicago's Golden Glovers in Romp

CHICAGO (AP) —Chicago's Golden Gloves team had the golden touch Wednesday night as it decisively battered a New York team in scoring its most outstanding triumph in the intercity boxing bouts

The Chicago bombardment was set-off in two explosive TKO victories in the first two matches and was wrapped up in the final heavyweight bout for a lop sided 7-1 victory

Fights Last Night

Reds' Slugger To Take Over Duties at First

CLEARWATER, Fla (AP) — Ted Kluszewski makes his first appearance of the season at first base today as the Redlegs tangle with the Phillies in 'Grapefruit League' play

The big guy so far has appeared only four times at the plate—and then as a pinchhitter—but Wednesday he singled safely as his teammates slaughtered the world champion Yankees 20 6 Except for his pinch hitting Kluszewski has put in his time in batting practice and jogging around the field to keep his huge frame limber and his weight in line.

Montreal, Boston Fight for Second

By The Associated Press

The duel for second place in the National Hockey League is going right down to the wire with the Montreal Canadiens holding a slight edge over the Boston Bruins

The Canadiens, with one game remaining and that against last place Chicago at home Saturday night, took sole possession of the runnerup spot Wednesday night by edging the Toronto Maple Leafs 2 1 on Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion s goal with 30 seconds to play

The victory gave Montreal a two point margin over the Bruins who are at Detroit tonight for a game with the pennant winning Red Wings Boston winds up the season Saturday at home against the fourth place New York Rangers

Dillard Absent

Dash Distance Lengthened At Track Meet in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two things will be different about the hurdle and dash events at the 17th annual Knights of Columbus track meet in the Arena Friday night The distance has been lengthened five yards and Harrison Dillard won't be competing

This year a section of the oval board track will be built so it can be removed to lengthen the distance available for the dashes Hitherto when run inside the oval the dashes were limited to 45 yards That made meet records somewhat meaningless because no other indoor meet is under 50 yards

The shorter distance also gave added advantage to the runners who were quickest to get off the blocks That was a factor in Dillard's favor as age began catching up on "Bones" the veteran Olympic star out of Baldwin-Wallace College here Last year Dillard won the high hurdle event for the 11th straight year

Battling is out for Dillard s hurdles crown and for the new Harrison Dillard trophy will be two Olympic champions

One is Milt Campbell, decathlon champion whom the Cleveland Browns hope to draft for professional football after his Navy service and final season at Indiana

The other is Lee Calhoun of North Carolina who tied the 50 yard meet record at Milwaukee earlier this month at 6 1 seconds He has lost to Campbell three times this year

A sizzling 50 yard dash also is in prospect with Ira Murchison of Chicago, a junior at Western Michigan, tagged the man to beat Murchison, while in the service in Germany, established joint claim to the 1 1-second world record mark for the 100 meters in 1955 in the German Games

Herb Carper of the University of Pittsburgh will be defending the crown he won last year against Murchison and a talented field that also includes Aubrey Lewis Notre Dame football player and 400-meter NCAA hurdles champion

All-Americans To Appear at Coliseum Here

Talented All American basketball players of recent vintage will vie with comedy and stunt players at the Coliseum Sunday at 8 p m when the Harlem Magicians meet the Kentucky Colonels

The All American delegation is headed by Big Bill Spivey the 7-1 giant from Kentucky University, closely followed by Charley Hadden another Kentucky stalwart, and Don Malmrose, a Brigham Young contribution of three years back All three are playing for the Kentucky Colonels

The Magician All Americans are Josh Grider one of the best, who hails from Tennessee State A&I in Nashville, as does Boyd Buie, the one-armed wizard of the court Chuck Cooper, who played with Fort Wayne Zollners last season in the NBA, and Jim Tucker who played with the Syracuse Nationals in the pro loop, are with the Magicians Both won All American rating at Duquesne University. Marques Haynes the fabulous dribbler, won his laurels at Langston College

Despite the presence of all these celebrities on one floor the man sure to steal the spotlight is 'Goose" Tatum, a fellow who has played before more people than any basketeer in the history of the game

Former middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson says he was born May 3, 1921 but record books list his birth date a year earlier

Tribe Pilot In Plea for More Tilts

TUCSON, Ariz., (AP) — With the need for trimming major league rosters to 28 by opening day, the possibility of exhibition season doubleheaders was suggested today by manager Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians to aid in screening players.

"Even if I weren't a new manager trying to size up players I didn't know, I think playing 18 competitive innings a day in the spring would be a great help," said Farrell. "I wouldn't say how many doubleheaders should be played, but the more the better."

Farrell thinks most players wouldn't object to spring twin bills. "I know right now, I have men coming to me and asking why they can't play more," said Farrell, an Indian farm system manager from 1947 until his promotion from the Indianapolis managership to Al Lopez' job.

"You hate to think of trimming players from your roster — as you must this year — before you have seen them in at least a few regular season games. The next best thing is to see more of them in the exhibition season," he said.

Rest Ordered For Tribe Star

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran right hander Early Wynn, who won 20 games for the Cleveland Indians last year, is having a hard time getting started in spring training.

He was ordered to take a rest earlier this week when he developed a high fever and upset stomach due to a virus infection. The 37-year-old pitcher is now undergoing daily heat treatments for what doctors say is inflammation of tendons and perhaps a pinched nerve in his right hip.

A scheduled game between the Indians and the Baltimore Orioles was cancelled here Wednesday because of rain. It was the first time anyone could remember being rained out in the 11 years the Tribe has been training here.

Miss Zibby, the mare of famed handicap star Summer Tan, once sold for $400 because no one thought she would be worthwhile for breeding purposes.

... Off the Cuff

By JOHN SHORT

When the Ohio Association of Boxing and Wrestling Commissions meets here next July, it probably will be mapping a war against the Ohio Legislature.

SHORT

The group already had promised a fight with that group over House Bill No. 413, calling for the setting up of a state boxing commissioner and a licensing fee for managers, promoters, boxers and seconds, when it learned this week that another bill, House Bill 724, had been thrown in the hopper extending the licensing fee to include physicians and trainers.

—:—

THE, ASSOCIATION is fighting to keep the state's ring program from becoming a political football. It feels that the state commissioner plan would kill local rule and place the only supervision of all Ohio bouts in Columbus.

As of the group's state convention last Sunday at Columbus, it was unclear on exactly what the bill called for. An air of mystery surrounds House Bill 418 and members of the Columbus commission had been unable to obtain a copy of it.

Sponsor of the bill also is unknown but there are rumors that the International Boxing Club, charged recently with operating a ring monopoly by a federal court, may be the instigator.

—:—

THE OHIO ASSOCIATION, however, has no serious fight with the IBC. The association has been struggling along, thus far, without too much trouble with the Jim Norris combine. A spokesman for the Cleveland commission, however, voiced the opinion of most of the state group when he termed the court monopoly ruling "killing the dog to get rid of the fleas."

He went on to say the simplest way of smashing the IBC monopoly would be a court ruling forcing the group to divest itself of all interests in arenas and stadiums throughout the country.

Rather than the IBC, television was mentioned as being one of the biggest drawbacks in the state. The Cleveland commission, in particular, has been hit by the television bugaboo. Teddy Atkins, topnotch Cleveland fight promoter, currently is in the process of trying to line up a first line match for the night of the opening day of baseball play in that city.

He opened his negotiations by seeking a Rory Calhoun-Joey Giardello bout. Thus far he has had little success. The IBC has not frowned on his plan but the sponsors of the Wednesday and Friday night ring telecasts take a dim view of it. They are demanding that any Calhoun-Giardello fight be scheduled for one of their shows.

Alston Feels Flag Chances Good as Ever

By JOE REICHLER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are just as good, perhaps even better than when they won the National League pennant last year and must be regarded as the team to beat for the 1957 flag.

That is the opinion of Walter Alston who, in his three previous years with the Dodgers, gained a reputation of sorts as being an ultra - conservative manager both in expression and action.

Second of a Series

So it came as a surprise when the Dodger skipper made such observations as these:

"I think our chances to win are just as good as they ever were . . ."

"If a couple of our lefthanders come through, we could have the best pitching staff since I've been here. . . ."

"We're not concerned with this supposed age problem. Desire eliminates age. . . ."

Admits Problems

Alston, despite his optimistic view, acknowledged a few problems still existed but he hoped they would be eliminated by the time the regular season got under way in four weeks.

"We're not yet decided on who will play at second, third and left field," he said, "and we're still awaiting final word on Campanella's hand. If Spooner and Podres come through, we could have the best pitching in the league.

"Remember, we didn't have Sal Maglie and Don Bessent until the season was nearly half gone. Carl Erskine had arm trouble. Roger Craig should be better now that he's put in a full season in the big leagues. Don Newcombe ought to have another good year, maybe not as good but well enough. Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax have shown remarkable improvement this spring.

Then we have kids like Fred Kipp (20-7 at Montreal), Bob Darnell (16-12) at Portland and Rene Valdes (22-7 at Portland), who have looked exceptionally good so far. And don't forget Ralph Branca. He's looked as good as any of them."

Alston's biggest disappointments thus far have been the poor showing of Charlie Neal at second base and rookie Don Demeter, who was counted on to take over the left field post after hitting 41 homers and driving in 128 runs at Fort Worth last year.

If Neal comes through he will be the second baseman with Jim Gilliam shifting either to third base or left field. If not, Gilliam will be at second and either Randy Jackson or Don Zimmer will be at third with left field still a wide open berth.

Amoros Questioned

Alston apparently has lost confidence in Sandy Amoros who can't atone for his poor defensive work with his bat. Fixtures include Gil Hodges at first, Pee Wee Reese, still spry at 37 at shortstop, Duke Snider in center, Carl Furillo in right and Campanella behind the plate.

The hardest working and easily the most spectacular player on the club has been Zimmer, the scrappy little infielder whose career was almost ended last summer when he was hit by a pitched ball.

John Roseboro, rookie catcher from Montreal, has shown good speed, a good arm and good power, according to Alston, but his catching still leaves much to be desired.

"The catching will be decided in regards to the rest of the club," Alston said. "If we need an extra outfielder or pitcher, we'll go with two catchers" (Campy and Rube Walker).

Did Alston think the Dodgers would miss Jackie Robinson?

"I really can't answer that until I see how the young fellows make out," he began. But there's no doubt, Jackie Robinson could get us up for the big games more than anyone I ever knew."

Michigan State sophomore swimmer Don Nichols starred in the 100-yard backstroke while competing for Jackson, Mich., High.

Bradley, St. Bonaventure Favored in NIT Struggles

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP) — Bradley and St. Bonaventure have been made the early favorites to win tonight's semifinals in the National Invitation basketball tourney, but there will be plenty of support for Temple and Memphis State.

This observer goes along with the minority and picks Temple over Bradley and Memphis State over St. Bonaventure.

Second-seeded Bradley is favored on the basis of its astounding 116-81 Madison Square Garden record - breaking comeback against Xavier of Ohio Tuesday after being down 21 points at 38-17. The Bonnies get the nod because of their 85-68 trouncing of top-seeded Seattle Monday.

"After that performance by Bradley, I don't know how we can beat them," said Temple Coach Harry Litwack. "But we'll be on the floor."

That should be enough for anyone who watched the slick, poised Owls from Philadelphia whip Dayton 77-66 Tuesday. Litwack has a court wizard in junior southpaw Guy Rodgers, who inspires teammates Jay Norman and Mel Brodsky to great heights. They do not figure to collapse as Xavier did before a Bradley all-court press.

In addition, as Litwack pointed out, "our boys like to play in the Garden." Temple has lost only one game in the Garden in five years and that by one point to Ohio State in the Holiday Festival last December.

Memphis State, led by little Jack Butcher, a 5-9 "giant killer" upset Utah and Manhattan and figures to show steady improvement against the Bonnies.

As St. Bonaventure did against Cincinnati and Seattle, the Tigers from Memphis came from behind in each game. They have a strong bench and do not figure to become rattled.

Tonight's winners meet Saturday afternoon for the championship. Tonight's losers play for third place.

Harding

in skill and may be able to help us most," he added.

The Prexy schedule for the nine meets is as follows: Delaware, April 8 (here); Delaware, April 18 (there); Findlay, April 24 (here); Lorain, April 26 (here); Elyria, April 27 (here); Ottawa, May 1 (here); Fremont, May 3 (there); Sandusky, May 6 (there); Ottawa, May 14 (there).

—:—

THINGS AT Harding may be looking up, so far as the Prexy golfers are concerned. Coach Bob Messaros noted today that the "boys are doing better than last year at this time."

Last year's links squad finished the season with a mark of four wins and six losses. With three returning lettermen, plus some additional players with experience, Messaros hopes to put the Prexies in the black as far as victories and defeats go this year.

Of the three numeral winners back for another year of competition, Jake Ulrey has two letters, Tom Bland and Charles Mitchell each one. Other members of the squad include Dave DeWolfe, Jack Noggle, Phil Sykes, Dick Williams, Bill Morrison, Jerry Winters, Larry Davis, Dick Bland, Ron Baker, Jack Swartz, Gene Looms, Melbin Colby and Lowell Chapman.

Weather conditions have hampered practice sessions thus far, but the team will move to the Mar-O-Del and Country Club courses shortly to begin practice in earnest for the opening game on the schedule, April 10.

"We've got some fine potential and we should account for ourselves pretty favorably," Coach Messaros declared.

The Prexy golf schedule is as follows, with all meets starting at 3 p.m.; Galion, April 10 (there); Shelby, April 15 (here); Fremont, May 3 (here); Sandusky, May 6 (here); and Ashland, May 8 (here). The Presidents will participate in the Buckeye Conference meet at Findlay, May 10; play Galion here May 14; and wind up the season at the district meet May 18 in Lima.

COACH OF YEAR. Frank McGuire, coach of the University of North Carolina basketball team, watches his brightest star, Lennie Rosenbluth, practice in a New York armory. McGuire was named "Coach of the Year" by the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association for the second time. McGuire, who finished the regular season with a 24-0 record, first won the honor in 1951 when he was at St. John's University.

Crestline's Coach Resigns From Job

CRESTLINE — Lester Grace, coach and mathematics teacher at Crestline High School, and his wife, Mrs. Nancy Grace, English and history teacher at the school, submitted their resignations to Supt. Cecil Ratcliff at the high school Wednesday.

Mr. Grace has accepted a position as coach and junior high science teacher at the private Maumee Valley County Day School near Toledo.

Mr. and Mrs. Grace and their children came to Crestline three years ago from Mount Gilead. In the last two seasons, Mr. Grace's football teams won nine and lost nine. In basketball, his cagers won 36 games and lost 24.

Redlegs Club Yankee Hero For 20-6 Win

By The Associated Press

It makes no difference to Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston whether they call him the Great Gutierrez or the Mighty Valdes. All Alston knows is that the skinny 6-3 Cuban with a smoking fast ball may be around Flatbush a lot longer than most people thought.

Rene Gutierrez y Valdes, who had a 22-8 record with Portland of the Pacific Coast League last season, displayed more of his classy hurling Wednesday as the Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 in an 11-inning exhibition game at Vero Beach, Fla.

Blanks Cardinals

Rene added three more hitless and scoreless innings in his second appearance as a Dodger. He walked two Cardinals, and another reached base on an error, but none got past first.

In his Brooklyn debut Sunday, Valdes came to the mound with the bases loaded and none out in the eighth against the Detroit Tigers. Five of the Tigers popped up and the sixth bounced back to the box as Valdes preserved a 3-2 Dodger victory.

Valdes is known in Latin America as the Great Gutierrez, which is his father's name. At Portland it was the mighty Valdes, his mother's maiden name.

Valdes is signed to a contract with Los Angeles, Brooklyn's new Coast League farm club, but if he keeps up this kind of pitching he could move to Ebbets Field.

Elsewhere:

The Detroit Tigers, smarting under criticism of Manager Jack Tighe after losing 8 of 10 exhibitions, clubbed four Pittsburgh pitchers for 11 hits, including a two-run homer by Charley Lau, to defeat the Pirates 8-4.

Ed Bouchee cracked a three-run homer and Bob Bowman got a solo round-tripper to provide the punch as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Washington Senators 6-4.

Larsen Routed

Don Larsen of the New York Yankees made his first appearance since his World Series perfect game and was battered soundly by the Cincinnati Redlegs, who won 20-6. He pitched three innings, gave up a homer to George Crowe, two triples, two doubles, a single and five runs. All told the Redlegs collected 25 hits.

Two walks with the bases loaded gave the Milwaukee Braves a pair of runs in their 3-2 verdict over the Kansas City Athletics. Bob Cerv homered for the A's.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox 9-4, scoring five times in the fourth inning.

Spring Dangerous

DALLAS (AP)—A psychiatrist says more people kill themselves in the spring than in any other season.

Dr. Louis J. West of Oklahoma City told the Southern Clinical Society that the symptoms of spring fever which bring a feeling of well-being to most persons have exactly the opposite effect on acutely depressed persons, making them feel more discouraged than ever.

He said suicides also increase during Christmas and other holiday seasons.

New Street Department Truck in Use at Upper

UPPER SANDUSKY—The Upper Sandusky Village Council has put in use a new pick-up truck for the street department and a new backhoe to be used jointly by the water department and the street department.

A new sub-division is being considered and will be presented to council for approval in the near future. This plat is located on South Hazel St. There are to be 28 lots in the sub-division.

According to reports from the city councilmen, 375 parking meter tickets were issued during February. Of there 90 paid fines of $1.00 each and 267 paid fines of 10 cents each. Meter collections for the month amouted to $1,095.50.

During January and February six building permits were issued at the city building.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held within a narrow range with prices mixed early this afternoon.

Trading proceeded at a slow pace, held down partly by uncertainty over the outcome of Dag Hammarskjold's talks with Egyptian President Nasser

Aircrafts scored the best gains, Boeing, Douglas and United Aircraft all moving up for major fractions Chemicals were easy although Air Reduction went higher against the trend in this group

Small gains and losses were posted in the steel, oil, metal and rubber divisions

Royal Dutch, Gulf Oil and Texas Co advanced Sinclair and Standard Oil of New Jersey were lower

In the chemical section Union Carbide and Du Pont dipped

With the exception of Youngstown up a fraction, steels were fractionally lower as the price of secondary grades of steel scrap dropped sharply at Pittsburgh

U S government bonds were steady.

Marion Man Cleared On Charge of Robbery

A robbery charge against Herbert Ray Canter 27 of 152½ N State St, was dismissed Wednesday in the Morehead Ky Circuit Court when another Marion youth confessed to the crime, a Morehead deputy sheriff said today

According to the deputy Jackie Conley 19 of Marion was sentenced to two years in the state reformatory at LaGrange Ky, after admitting the robbery of a country store near Morehead last Oct 11

In turning state's evidence Conley absolved Canter from implication in the robbery the deputy said Canter had been arrested with Conley by Marion police Nov 26 on a warrant from Morehead

New Violence in Chicago

Teen-Age Gangs Rival Adult Mobsters of Past

CHICAGO (AP) — Teen-age gangs now are producing Chicago headlines of the same type the adult mobsters did in the past.

The headlines are over stories of crimes of violence—such as the recent slayings of a boy in a hammer attack and a man in a motel robbery.

"There's no use burying our heads in the sand," comments Walter Devereux, chief investigator of the Chicago Crime Commission. "This city is not safe to roam in and it's getting worse."

But the juvenile division of the Police Department says that, on the basis of the current rate, it doubts that the crime rate for 1957 will be much higher than 1956.

During 1956 there were 12,439 cases noted by the division. The statistics included: larceny of automobiles, 747; burglary, 614; robberies (mostly strong arm), 229.

The bulk of the others were in the minor class. The record shows that 4,845 of the complaints were handled by "station adjustment"—such things as quarreling, ringing doorbells and annoying the neighbors that got no farther than an area police station.

But there have been a number of instances of teen-age gang action. Such as these:

An elderly shoe repair man and five youths were viciously attacked by a gang of some 30 toughts, armed with bottles and knives, apparently without provocation. The victims were hospitalized.

Two gangs wrecked a restaurant in an outbreak of rivalry and when thrown out, later returned, fired a bullet through a window and wounded an innocent customer.

A gang preyed on high school pupils, extorting 50 cents to $2 weekly as protection money.

Another gang specialized in stealing automobile tires and during a one-year period stole $16,000 worth of tires besides committing five other burglaries.

Thirteen white toughs are reportedly under indictment for murder in the hammer slaying of Alvin Palmer, a Negro teenager who was attacked as he stood at a South Side bus stop.

Four other teen-agers have been indicted for murder in the fatal shooting of Charles Strysky, 48, during a robbery of his suburban Alsip motel.

And so the reports go, day after day.

A crime official recently said: "The only people you can blame are their parents."

Flemming Says Peak Defense Mobilization Should Continue

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, says the United States is at the peak of its mobilization for defense and must stay there until a "spiritual breakthrough" makes lasting peace possible.

Addressing the fifth annual convention of the National Science Teachers Assn. Wednesday, the former chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization said the country's strong points in its mobilization program include:

1. Huge government stockpiles of strategic materials.
2. Intelligent use of its resources.
3. Ability to retaliate quickly and effectively if attacked.
4. Effective deployment and training of a continental defense command.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, president of Case Institute of Technology, told the teachrs that the key to the country's long-term security is its industrial strength.

Dr. Glennan is a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Driver Jailed

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Clarence H. Boyce, 34, of Painesville, was sent to jail for 60 days on a drunken driving conviction Wednesday in Painesville Municipal Court following his 40th arrest in Lake County since 1941. He also was fined $200 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for three years.

Police records show Boyce had been arrested 12 times previously for drunken driving, 8 times for driving while his license was under suspension and 16 times for intoxication. Police said he also had been arrested for assault and battery, robbery and assault to kill.

Seek Courteous Driver

UPPER SANDUSKY — The Upper Sandusky Business Women's Club is sponsoring a drive to obtain a courteous woman driver in Upper Sandusky. The drive will continue through March, April and May. The woman chosen will be awarded a gift from the club. The Upper Sandusky police force is cooperating in spotting the winning driver.

Taking New Post

Farm Bureau Group Objects To 'Fast Time'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said today it was opposed to proposals calling for Daylight Saving Time.

D. R. Stanfield, executive secretary of the farm group, said a change to Daylight Saving Time would force dairy farmers to begin work at an unreasonably early hour to meet the milk truck pickup schedules.

"When cities go on fast time, farmers in the surrounding areas are affected even though they have not had an opportunity to express their opposition," Stanfield said.

Most of the northeast corner of Ohio goes on Daylight Saving Time next month.

Columbus voters will decide whether to accept fast time in a May referendum. Other central Ohio cities are expected to go on daylight time if Columbus does so.

Rites Set for Pastor

CLEVELAND (AP)—Funeral services for the Rev. William W. Dietrich, 75, former superintendent of the Cleveland district of the Methodist Church, will be held tomorrow at the First Methodist Church in Lakeside, Ohio. He died Tuesday in Sandusky Memorial Hospital.

New Expansion of West Town Branch Bank Nearly Finished

An addition to the West Town Drive-In Branch of the National City Bank is nearing completion, according to Robert White, bank president. Comprising the west half of the building, formerly occupied by Lane Supply Co., the addition is the final step in a move to double facilities and services at the branch located at 455 W. Center St.

The West Town Branch, Marion's first drive-in banking service, opened with one drive-in window on Oct. 24, 1951. The following year, a second drive-in window was added due to the increased use of the service and to help handle pay day peak traffic.

The new addition includes two more drive-in windows on the west side of the building to supplement the two windows on the east side. The new windows will be serviced by the alley west of the building which has been widened and made one-way going south to facilitate easy moving of bank traffic. The original east side windows will be serviced as in the past by the bank drive which is one-way going north.

Inside the bank, partitions have been removed and a new counter running the full length of the west side of the building more than doubles the floor and counter space formerly available in the bank. West Town's accounting department has moved from its downstairs offices to new offices upstairs in the west side of the building.

The east half of the upstairs will continue to be used as a community room, sponsored by the bank as it has been in the past. A new stairway leading directly upstairs from the Center St. entrance will provide easy access to the offices and community room, eliminating the necessity of community-room users climbing the outside stairs.

Ralph Q. White, assistant vice-president of National City, has been manager of the West Town branch office since it opened in 1951. The branch opened with a staff of six, and now employs twenty-five people. Additional personnel will be added as the new facilities and services get into operation.

Argue Rate Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and Findlay attorneys are still deadlocked today on the question of how much the company should be allowed to increase its rates.

Findlay's City Council last July authorized the company to increase its annual gross revenue by $142,000 through rate hikes. The company claims it needs an additional $150,000 to bring in a reasonable rate of return on its property.

Galionite Injured In 4-Car Accident

GALION — A 42-year-old Galion man, Paul E. Erfurt, was hospitalized following an automobile accident involving four cars at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday. Erfurt suffered severe contusions and abrasions of the right side of his chest, and a knee-cap injury. He is a patient in Galion Community Hospital.

Police gave Robert Marks, 34, of Galion a citation for failure to yield the right of way. Marks reportedly was driving south on N. Riblet St., and drove across the E. Church St., intersection where Erfurt was headed east. Erfurt's car was struck, and caused Erfurt to lose control. He collided head on with a parked car belonging to Pauline Dewalt, 24, of Galion and the Dewalt car was pushed into a parked car belonging to Dorothy Fagan of Crestline.

The Dewalt and Erfurt cars were the most extensively damaged. Slight damage was reported to the other two machines.

Named Top Farmer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Frank B. Sollar, 35, Washington Court House, was named Outstanding Young Farmer of 1956 Wednesday at the Farm and Home Week banquet here. Second place went to Elmer J. Welman, 31, Delphos; and third place to Donald H. Riley, 33, Burton. The contest was sponsored by the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Erie Predicts Hike in Freight Volume, Gross Revenue in '57

NEW YORK — The Erie Railroad anticipates a slight increase in freight volume in 1957, and a somewhat larger increase in gross revenues, Harry W. Von Willer, president, reported to shareowners in the 1956 annual report of the company's activities.

Industrial growth along the Erie and increased revenue from piggy-back operation should contribute to this growth, he said. Last year 128 industries located new plants or expanded existing operations and are expected to produce $3.5 million in additional revenue when in full production. Erie piggy-back revenue is expected to exceed $1,200,000 in 1957.

"With favorable action by the ICC on the railroads' pending request for an increase in freight rates to allow a better return on invested capital the Erie could have one of its best years," Mr. Von Willer indicated.

The Erie has several projects under way for reducing operating expenses in an effort to offset increased wages and higher material and supply costs, he reported. Among these is the consolidation of passenger terminals with the Lackawanna at Hoboken starting March 25. This move is expected to save the Erie about $1 million a year. Other studies include the possibility of joint trackage with the Lackawanna in the 80 miles between Corning and Binghamton, N. Y., where both roads parallel each other.

In 1956 the Erie's gross revenues of $175,899,859 were 9 per cent greater than in the previous year even though the road felt the affects of the 34-day steel strike last summer. Operating expenses were $137,693,502, up 7.5 per cent. Net income increased to $8,170,509 or $3.08 a share of common stock compared with $2.97 in 1955. In last year's earnings the tax reduction from accelerated amortization amounted to $2,315,998, or 95 cents a share compared with $1.34 in the previous year.

Improvements Continue

The road's heavy improvement program will be continued, the Erie president said. Last year $18 million was spent for new equipment and other improvements, and $14 million is programmed for this year. In the past ten years, Erie has spent over $172 million for rehabilitation.

"Last year's activities resulted in a modest yet encouraging increase in our railroad's net earnings," Mr. Von Willer said. "This improvement was achieved even though there were such adverse factors as a 34-day steel strike last summer, an increase in employe wages Nov. 1 with no compensating increase in freight rates until Dec. 28, a sizeable increase in tax accruals due to higher payroll taxes and diminishing federal income tax benefits from the so-called 'fast tax write-offs'."

The Erie's revenues came mainly from the movement of freight which contributed 88.6 per cent or $155,830,586. Of the total, $142,004,885 came from merchandise traffic, an increase of 9.5 per cent over last year, and $13,805,701 from coal and coke, up 9.1 per cent.

The Erie president said the Erie showed a 5.7 per cent increase in revenue ton miles of freight handled by the railroad in 1956 some of which resulted from a strong recovery in coal traffic over previous years.

Passenger service brought in $7,216,059, an increase of three per cent; mail, $3,453,635, up 5.4 per cent, and express gained $1,914,992, an increase of 9.2 per cent. Miscellaneous income from switching charges, demurrage, freight storage, dining car receipts and milk revenues brought $7,504,587, a 5.8 per cent increase.

Red Cross Board of Directors Studies Plans for Open House

Plans for the open house to be held Friday through Sunday were outlined when the board of directors of the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross met Wednesday noon in the chapter house at 297 Mt. Vernon Ave. Other business included a report on the work of the Junior Red Cross and reports of chairmen and committees. A vote of appreciation was given the volunteers who have contributed their time and work at the chapter house.

The general public is invited to visit the new home of the chapter on Friday between the hours of 7 and 10 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. Volunteers will be on hand to conduct the visitors through the building and welcoming the guests will be the chapter staff and members of the board of directors.

It has been a full time job for volunteers working at the chapter house. All have contributed their time and work in making the adjustments to suit the needs of the chapter's work. This entailed painting walls, scrubbing floors, hanging curtains and numerous other duties, all of which have added to the convenience and attractiveness of the new home. Lamps, drapes, chairs, tables, dishes, kitchen equipment and other items have been contributed by interested persons, and the work of making plumbing adjustments, installing electric fixtures and building cupboards for storage has been done by volunteers.

Miss Bess Snider, Junior Red Cross chairman, reported on the work being done by the juniors. She showed a box which is being duplicated by juniors from the first to the sixth grades in the city and county schools to be sent to school children in foreign lands. These include pencils, notebooks, thread, whistle, needles, tooth brush and tooth paste, wash cloths, pens, handkerchiefs and other articles. Going to children in other lands also will be scrapbooks with pictures and data centering on Marion and Ohio. Juniors in the high schools are filling a large chest to be forwarded to overseas high school students after Easter. Among the articles going into the chest are an encyclopedia, atlas, pencils, tablets and other school needs and many other items for use by the students.

159 Pints of Blood Given

Reports showed 159 pints of blood provided without charge to patients at the Marion General Hospital during the last month. These included two emergency calls. The Bloodmobile Unit will visit the Marion Correctional Institution on March 25. Robert Kraner, who recently was hospitalized and received blood, told the board his personal experience and what it means to a patient in such an emergency.

Reports showed the class in standard first aid conducted at the Whirlpool-Seeger plant and also one conducted for members of the state highway auxiliary patrol had been completed. Instructors were Donald Coldwell, Vernon E. Davis and Robert W. Brown.

Announcement was made of the national convention to be held in Washington, D. C. May 20-22.

Lowell Douce presided for the meeting in the absence of the chairman, Louis B. Conkle. The invocation was by James E. Frew.

Indicted in Death

BRYAN, Ohio (AP)—Roy E. Koerner, 20, Edgerton, was indicted for second degree manslaughter Wednesday by a Williams County grand jury. A Feb. 7 traffic accident on U. S. 6 involving Koerner caused the deaths of Paul Ludwig, 60, and his wife, Martha, 56, of Parma.

House Votes New Fund Slash for 18 Federal Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Wednesday cut deeper than its appropriations committee had recommended in slicing nearly 538 million dollars from a bill to finance 18 separate federal agencies.

The reduction, as approved by the House on a voice vote, was 9 per cent below the $5,923,195,000 President Eisenhower had requested to run these independent agencies in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Last Friday, the Appropriations Committee had suggested the total in the bill be whacked by $516,993,300. But the House went beyond this, trimming another 21 millions.

It did this by wiping out a 19 million dollar fund for stockpiling strategic materials and by snipping two million from funds for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA).

FDA Notes Wide Use Of Tranquilizer Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has told Congress that doctors in 1956 wrote 34 million prescriptions for tranquilizer drugs.

This data led Chairman Fogarty (D-RI), of a House Appropriations Subcommittee, to remark, "everybody wants to be happy."

"It is a laudable desire," observed John L. Harvey, deputy food and drug commissioner.

Harvey said true tranquilizers "are all drugs which require a prescription" and that, when taken under proper medical direction, "they have been tremendously useful."

The Duluth-Superior twin harbors on Lake Superior move and receive more tonnage during an eight-month shipping season than any other port in the world except New York.

Suspect in Death Of Woman Freed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Authorities here have released a 51-year-old suspect in the death of a young woman whose body was found in Big Darby Creek Saturday. Officers said the suspect, a painter from suburban Amvet Village, provided a satisfactory alibi.

Sheriff's Lt. Ellsworth Beck of Franklin County said the investigation will now shift to nearby Darbydale, where the woman's strangled body was found by four youths. Her death was ruled a homicide by Dr. Carl Tetrick, acting Franklin County coroner.

County commissioners have posted a $250 reward for information leading to the conviction of the slayer.

The Colorado River flows through the Grand Canyon with such power that it moves half a million tons of silt in a single 24 hours past any given point.

Retrial Nears Jury

CINCINNATI (AP)—The retrial of Denver Powell, 46, of El Centro, Calif., charged with the 1949 hold-up-slaying of John Schreck, delicatessen operator, probably will go to a jury tomorrow.

One of the state's final rebuttal witnesses Wednesday was Donald Roney, assistant county prosecutor and investigator. He denied Powell's previous testimony that the state, through Roney, had offered leniency in exchange for a signed confession.

Illness of a juror at Powell's first trial last October caused the court to declare a mistrial.

Britons Revert To Horses in Gas Shortage

Old Gray Mare Gets More Attention After Rationing Hits Travel

LONDON (INS) — The old gray mare is coming back into her own in Britain today.

With gasoline rationed to restrict motorists to 200 miles of traveling a month and selling at upwards of 84 cents a gallon the horse is ousting the dog from its traditional role as "man's best friend" in this tight little isle.

Now that the horseless carriage is panting with thirst the clatter of horseshoes is returning to the highways and byways of Britain.

Business men as far apart as London, Birmingham and Edinburgh are riding to work on their favorite grey mares and chestnut geldings

Take Lt. Col. Eric Trevor, 52-year-old estate agent, who lives in the London suburbs of Roehampton. Nowadays, dressed in bowler hat and jodphurs and with stirrups equipped with red warning lights, the colonel clip-clops to his Mayfair office on his six-year-old mare "Dawn."

Takes Over an Hour

The journey takes an hour and a quarter but Dawn, according to the colonel, "is a much better proposition than my 23 horse-power car.

"A horse is cheaper to run than a car," he added.

The big breweries of Britain, which wisely clung to horse-drawn drays for advertising or prestige purposes, are thanking their lucky stars.

There are no prouder men in the nation today than the British Railways carters who deliver freight from station to door in horse-drawn cars with an "I told you so" expression.

Farmers who only yesterday were boasting of their mammoth new tractors are glumly silent today and envying their short-sighted neighbors who failed to succumb to mechanization. The horse consumes no gasoline and what's more is free from the heavy sales tax. But there are horse power problems.

The number of horses bred in Britain has declined steadily since the introduction of the motor car. During and after the last war the meat market cut heavily into their numbers.

Naturally, a sudden demand for horses inflates prices. Modern automobile factories can through automation boost output to fantastic heights but this philosophy or technique is alien to a stable.

Costs $70 - $500

Today in Britain a good hunter costs as much as $500 and a farm horse about $300, although ponies can be picked up for as little as $70 and donkeys for even less.

Then there's the question of food, which is both expensive and scarce, although not quite as dear and rare as gasoline. The poor harvest this year put up the price of hay to $56 a ton and the price of oats to $98 a ton.

Carters estimate that it costs at least $8-$9 a week to feed a healthy horse that pulls a load, and that this horse cannot be expected to cover more than 100-125 miles a week.

Furthermore a horse needs more care and attention than a car or truck. Straw on a garage floor does not constitute a proper stable nor does a weekly wash suffice for good grooming.

A horse needs new shoes regularly and blacksmiths are few and far between in modern Britain. Horses require harness too and saddlery is hardly an expanding craft.

Then, of course, any Tom, Dick or Harry can drive a car but a horse needs understanding. The foot that steps confidently on the gas may not rest so confidently in the stirrup and the hands that grip the steering wheel with skill may not be so deft on the reins.

The whole nation obviously cannot go back to the horse and buggy age — the horses just aren't there. But wherever there's an old grey mare in Britain today, she's working overtime.

Cosmetics Base Being Studied As Aid in Water Conservation

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (INS) — Hexadecanel, a fatty substance used as a base for cosmetics, promises to help farmers and ranchers in America's drought-seared sections to conserve precious water.

Pond and reservoir evaporation is a serious problem in these areas, particularly so in the sun-blistered Southwest.

Texans, for example, use eight million acre feet of water yearly for their crops, pastures and herds. Their total net loss through evaporation is estimated at more than seven million acre feet annually.

Consider that this means a loss of $30 to $80 an acre foot to water districts and the seriousness of the evaporation problem becomes apparent.

However, thanks to work being done by the Southwest Research Institute in San Antonio, the situation may be greatly improved.

Scientists of the institute became interested in the use of hexadecanel to reduce evaporation after learning of the work of W. W. Mansfield in Australia.

In a report to the San Antonio organization, Mansfield said that by coating Australian ponds with a film of hexadecanel one ten-millionth of an inch thick, evaporation was reduced by as much as 45 per cent.

Dr. Buel L. Beadle, chairman of the institute's department of chemistry, says that while conditions in the Southwest differ from those in Australia, experiments with hexadecanel in Texas have been encouraging.

Dr. Beadle reports that tests made on 10-foot stock tanks in the Lone Star State resulted in water savings averaging 45 per cent with the hexadecanel film lasting more than a month.

However, experiments made on a four-acre lake were not as successful because wind, algae and bacteria adversely affected the life of the film.

But Dr. Beadle says that addition of chemicals to the hexadecanel film has shown promising results in reducing algae and bacteria damage and that new distribution methods are under study to reduce wind damage.

Increase Reported In Married Pupils

CORVALLIS, Ore. (INS) — The number of married students at Oregon State College is climbing after having fallen off after 1948.

Reports compiled by the deans of men and women show that 24 per cent of men students and seven per cent of women are married this year. The figures represent an increase over the number of married students attending OSC a year ago.

However, they are still below the record 29 per cent for men and eight per cent for women established in 1948, when hundreds of veterans of World War II were attending the college.

Prior to the war years, the number of married students was way down. In 1938, for example, six per cent of men students and two per cent of women students were married.

Radio and Television

By MARIE TORRE

Mr. Welch and Lizzie Borden

Joseph N. Welch, the gentle Boston barrister whose brief TV excursions have generated reviews that Perry Como could envy, has let himself be talked into another television assignment for "Omnibus," but, by his own admission, he didn't have to be prodded exactly. "Well, essentially I am a conservative man," remarks Mr. Welch, "a grandfather, a man who belongs by the hearth with his slippers on. To be able to go on television and have people all over the nation admire me is a nice feeling, a very nice feeling."

MARIE TORRE

Of course, there are TV entrepreneurs throughout the country who could arrange to keep Mr. Welch in a permanent state of titillation, if he'd only acquiesce to some of their proposals, but he's awfully provincial about TV. He just keeps going back to "Omnibus."

-:-

"I REGARD MYSELF as an 'Omnibus' property," explained Mr. Welch, who emerged as an overnight TV discovery during the Army - McCarthy hearings three years ago. "I'm quite an amateur, you know, and the 'Omnibus' people are so wise about concealing my limitations and making me comfortable. Nevertheless, I'm still alarmed when I have to move around on TV. I always fear I won't get to my destination, or that I will trip along the way."

It's a matter of fact, Mr. Welch had expressed "wide-eyed" interest in TV projects other than "Omnibus" last year, but all plans to add television to his Boston law work were put aside when Mrs. Welch fell ill and died last December.

His appearance on "Omnibus" Sunday, a 90-minute feature detailing the Lizzie Borden murder case, is a commitment he made with producer Robert Saudek last October "while we were eating a second-rate dinner in a nondescript restaurant."

Besides serving as commentator, Mr. Welch will discuss the legal aspects of the trial, and choreographer Agnes De Mille will contribute a provocative ballet interpretation of the case.

-:-

"THE LIZZIE BORDEN story is probably the most wonderful story in the world," said Mr. Welch, conjuring up visions of Alfred Hitchcock. "I went to Fall River with Miss De Mille specifically to see exhibits introduced at the trial, to visit Lizzie's home and stand where the murder took place. We even saw the actual hatchet.

"In folklore, it's said the murder weapon was an ax, but in my opinion it's a hatchet. Anyway, the entire show will give careful attention to documented material and that's a source of pride to me. In law, I'm never content with less than historical accuracy."

Since he is an avid reader, Mr. Welch spends very little time with television when he's not working in the medium. His favorite program is "Omnibus," of course, and he's also a fan of Dave Garroway's "Today."

"Aside from the fact that 'Today' is a fine program" said Mr. Welch, "I find it very restful to watch the girl on that show. What's her name? Yes, Helen O'Connell. Oh, she's a honey. I hope she's getting a big salary."

IT NOW COMES to light that ABC officials perpetrated a neat hoax on TV columnists (and their readers) in the announcement they had "dropped" negotiations with Gary Cooper for a TV series because "we're convinced the series will not be ready by fall."

Perhaps it gave ABC men some measure of authority to make public they were casting aside so big a name as Gary Cooper, but the fact of the matter is that CBS had contractually engaged the film star for a fall show a full week before ABC made that grand announcement. In other words, Cooper wasn't available to ABC when the network supposedly "dropped" him. For shame, ABC!

WHILE PASSING through Montreal, Canada, during his current three-week vacation, Jackie Gleason again lent lip service to "retirement" talk, but his idea of "retirement" isn't what you think. "I'll wait for CBS to come up with something else for next season," said Gleason whose current "Honeymooners" series ends June 22. "As far as I'm concerned the show is scrapped."

Jack Benny's TV setting Sunday will be Paris, and on hand will be that No. 1 boulevardier, Maurice Chevalier. Dick Powell doesn't learn until May 1 whether his sponsor will renew "Zane Grey Theater," but he's optimistically forging ahead with show plans for next season. The high incidence of sponsor restlessness doesn't scare him at all.

Grandparents Believe Stork Timely, Reliable

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jan. 24th has become a day to remember in the William Spaar family.

On that day in 1947, a daughter, Mrs. Betsy Gabrhel, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., gave birth to a son.

A year later, another daughter, Mrs. Eunice Kubash, Milwaukee, became the mother of a son.

And last Jan. 24, a third daughter, Mrs. Jeanne Brekke, Milwaukee, also had a son.

ENJOYS RETIREMENT

WADENA, Sask. (AP)—Rosie, 31-year-old Clydesdale, doesn't have to work like a horse any more. After years of work in the fields and carrying children to school, Rosie now is the household pet on the Walfred Peterson farm near here, just eating and sleeping with an occasional run around the barnyard.

GETS A SEA WAVE. Sea shells are used to provide that "something extra" in Hollywood's newest glamor hairdo, created for film actress Julie Wilson who shows how it looks from both the front and back.

New Metal May End Heat Barrier

NEW YORK (AP) — Molly, a Cinderella element found 50 years ago in the Colorado Rockies, may provide aircraft designers with the metal battering ram needed to crash through the "heat barrier" —the greatest of the obstacles now blocking man's progress in the skies.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, says that the element molybdenum, nicknamed Molly, when properly coated to resist oxidation, has the ability to retain tremendous strength at the searing temperatures that come with supersonic-plus speeds.

Using the alloying element, designers hope to overcome the heat problems that at some speeds and altitudes cause materials in today's planes to fuse or pull apart.

Steelways says the resistant quality of Molly — it does not melt at temperatures as high as 4,750 degrees Fahrenheit — is only one of its many virtues. The element also allows steelmakers to make extremely hard steel without sacrificing toughness and minimizes the threat of stresses or cracks during fabrication and heat treating.

Restaurant Finds Patrons Stubborn

OMAHA (INS) — If you are one of those persons who is aggravated by what seem to be the outstretched hands of waitress, maitre 'd, hatcheck girl and doorman when you go out to dine, you have only yourself to blame.

That's the definitive word from a restaurant executive who should know.

John O. Sabatos of New York told members of the Nebraska Restaurant Association that his chain had experimented by putting no-tipping signs in 14 of its 183 restaurants.

Although menu prices were adjusted accordingly and waitresses were given raises, the public "tipped under the table" and the changes had to be dropped.

Evidently people secretly like the feeling they get through tipping those who serve them.

Trinidad, an island off the coast of Venezuela, was first named Iere, "Land of the Hummingbird." It was discovered by Columbus in 1498.

Building Plan Advanced for Cuba's Capital

Harbor Tunnel Holds Key to Big Expansion Proposals for Havana

HAVANA (INS) — The colorful four-century-old city of Havana is making a strong bid to become the metropolis of tomorrow—and in less than three years.

Plans haave been laid for a dramatic "new city" of half a million inhabitants with soaring buildings, a vast government headquarters centered around a new Presidential Palace, sprawling parks and highways at least 14 lanes wide in some sections.

Manana — a familiar slogan in Latin America—will be a forgotten word in Havana once construction starts. The plans call for a huge complex to go up in only 30 months near the world-famed old Morro Castle.

Construction Under Way

Key to the project is a vehicular tunnel now being constructed under the harbor channel leading into the Bay of Havana. Once it is completed, the tunnel will link the capital with the eastern side of the large bay.

Although that section of the harbor is less than 1,000 feet across the channel from the center of the city, the only possible way, at present, to get to it directly is by launch. All vehicles are required to detour many miles around the bay.

With the lack of quick transportation to the eastern side of the harbor, Havana has spread west and south as much as 12 miles from the bay. The population increase across the harbor has been extremely slow compared to the burgeoning growth of the west side.

The picture will be changed drastically after the tunnel is completed. A broad boulevard—the so-called "Monumental Avenue" — will run from the eastern end of the tube through the heart of the new Eastern Havana to a superhighway south of the bay.

12 Stories Studied

South of the broad avenue a group of buildings at least 12 stories will be erected. The extensive land north of the avenue will include private residential sections laid out so that each of the small areas will have its own parks, schools, churches and business districts.

In the center of the area north of Monumental Avenue, the plans call for construction of three interconnected trading centers. The first center, to be named "United States Square," will be the banking and office headquarters.

Known as "France Square," the second center will be reserved for a deluxe shopping district and the third section is planned as a historical center which will be called "Spain Square." Provisions have been made for a modern auto parking system to surround all three squares with capacity for 7,000 cars.

Government Property

Adjacent to the Havana Harbor entrance channel, the Cuban government owns a 700-acre tract surrounding Morro Castle and the Cabana fortress. Both strongholds had protected the capital during the stormy early years of the country.

Between the citadels, the government has proposed to construct a new official residence for the president. The garden of the presidential palace will merge with the skirts of the hills on which the two old fortresses stand.

East of the mansion the government plans to erect headquarters for six ministries as well as a spacious convention hall and an auditorium.

UPS AND DOWNS

MARIETTA, O. (AP)—Clyde E. Smith had his ups and downs last year—133,610 to be exact. He is an elevator operator in the First National Bank here, and his hobby is keeping a record of every complete up and down trip his elevator makes.

Baked Fish Makes Good Lenten Dish

Bread Crumbs, Shrimp, Oil, Seasonings Are Used in Stuffing

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Recent requests for a fish dish elegant enough to serve to guests inspired the testing of the following recipe. It calls for a whole fish to be stuffed with a savory mixture of bread crumbs, shrimp, olive oil, onion and other seasonings. The fish looks sumptuous when arranged on a platter with a garnish of lemon and extra shrimp plus any suitable vegetables you have on hand — cucumber or carrot slices, water cress or parsley.

Because this recipe is of Spanish origin, the stuffing calls for olive oil — an ingredient Spaniards use with a lavish hand. Then during baking the fish is brushed a few times with a mixture of the oil and lemon juice.

Spaniards usually eat their main meal in the middle of the day, and so this baked stuffed fish would probably appear at noon on one of their menus. Serve it sometime for a Sunday one o'clock dinner as a change from the usual roast meat or poultry. Or serve it for supper during Lent or on a Friday any time of the year.

The recipe from which this one was adapted suggested sea bream as the fish. We used a beautiful striped bass; you may, of course, substitute any locally available fish suitable for baking. Just make sure it is fresh and firm. And we beg you not to have the fish decapitated at the fish market; it looks most elegant — when it is brought to the table for carving — with both the head and the tail left on.

If you want a real Spanish way of presenting the baked fish on its platter, ignore our previous garnishing suggestion. Instead surround the two long sides of the fish with pale yellow-green escarole leaves; insert a feathery frond of dill or fennel into the baked fish's mouth so part of the spray shows; arrange strips of scarlet pimiento on top of the fish.

Baked Fish With a Lenten Stuffing of Shrimp and Bread Crumbs.

STUFFED FISH MATADOR

Ingredients: One 3½ pound whole fish, ½ pound shrimp, ½ cup olive oil, 1 medium - sized onion (finely chopped), 1-3 cup finely chopped celery, 1 clove garlic (minced), 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper, ¼ cup minced parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon dried crumbled thyme, ¾ teaspoon nutmeg, lemon juice, extra olive oil, garnishes.

Method: Have fish market clean fish and remove back bone and as many of the other bones as possible; have head and tail left on. Cook shrimp, shell and devein. Dice shrimp fairly fine — there should be 1 cup lightly packed. Heat olive oil in 9- or 10-inch skillet over low heat; add shrimp, onion, celery and garlic; cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is transparent. Stir in bread crumbs, green pepper, parsley, salt, pepper, thyme and nutmeg. (Taste and add more salt if necessary.) Lay fish open flat. Spread stuffing over inside of fish; if there seems too much, stuff the head with some of it. With a large darning needle and heavy white thread (or ordinary white nylon thread) sew up the fish. Line bottom and sides of a baking pan with foil; a medium-sized rectangular roasting pan is fine. Rub foil with olive oil. Arrange fish on foil in pan. Mix a little lemon juice and olive oil together; brush fish with it. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 minutes or until fish flakes easily. Dribble fish with oil-lemon juice mixture occasionally. Foil may be used to help lift fish from pan to platter; remove foil; wipe platter clean. Garnish with lemon slices or wedges, cucumber or carrot slices and cooked shrimp if desired. Makes 4 large servings; if a half-pound of cooked shrimp is used for the garnish, you can count on having enough fish for 6 servings.

Americans Saving In Spite of Credit

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (INS)—A top economic expert says installment buying has not stifled the American will to save money.

Prof. George Katonah, director of a University of Michigan research center, reports that many middle-class families set aside funds for saving and buy goods on the installment plan at the same time. He adds that this is especially true of those who feel optimistic about their family's financial future.

"Most people think that automobiles, washing machines, kitchen equipment and other large items ought to be paid out of current income. They think favorably of installment buying because it makes it possible to pay for articles while using them.

"Savings are intended for longer-range purposes like buying a house, providing extra income for retirement or financing college education for children. Therefore, the motives for consumer saving have not been impaired by the more widespread use of installment buying.

He says many people buy "on time" even though they have cash to pay, but do so because making regular "time payments" compels them to set aside their money regularly.

Canada's West Not 'Wild'

Last of North America's Frontiers Under Control

WINNIPEG (NANA) — Mining boom-towns mushrooming across the Canadian hinterland are North America's last frontier communities. They are full of rugged characters and, figuratively, pokes of gold.

But this last frontier doesn't need mounties or sheriffs or vigilantes. Saloons and gaming tables and lurid women are no problem.

It's all done with town-planning.

Nowadays boom-towns springing up in the howling wilderness are being blue-printed as carefully as the mining plants themselves. Jack London and Klondike Kate would probably think them all somewhat tame, but when a company opens up an area, the town development scheme has to be approved by the provincial government almost as though it were a suburb of Toronto.

The company town with its company store, like the boisterous old-time gaming saloon, has had its day.

SPOKESMEN FOR Canadian provincial governments explain austerely that their aim is "to ensure orderly development", to "avoid haphazard commercial operations," to forbid "ramshackle building", to keep out "unsavoury characters," and to prevent trading monopolies.

From British Columbia and the Yukon across to Labrador the provincial authorities are legislating against shanty towns and badlands, as well as against "closed" company towns.

The latest mining community to be projected illustrates this. International Nickel Co. has just signed first contracts for what will be a $175,000,000 development to mine, smelt and refine nickel in northern Manitoba.

A NEW TOWN, to be known as Thompson, will soon arise some 400 miles north of Winnipeg. The Manitoba provincial government joins with International Nickel in the project, a community of nearly 10,000 in the region of Mystery Lake and Moak Lake, now unbroken muskeg.

Townsite and district are to be run by a local administrator appointed by the Manitoba government. The provincial department of municipal affairs will control his activities. He will eventually name an advisory commitee from leading personalities in the community.

No one will be able to do business in Thompson without clearance from the administrator.

Exemption in perpetuity from local taxes on the townsite is granted the company. In lieu of taxes the company makes certain payments and concessions to the local government authority.

Land required for company buildings and installations is to be bought from the province at a nominal one dollar an acre fee. Other lots go only to persons and businesses receiving the administrator's approval.

Roads, streets and sidewalks, sewers and some other utilities, installed by the company as they build the town, will be local government property.

A government - approved town - planning scheme regulates the types of building and zones the community for orderly development.

The company shares in financing development of locally needed provincial resources, notably hydro-electric power facilities.

'Gadgets' Wanted For New Vehicles

DETROIT (INS) — A three-year study has revealed that Americans are getting more and more gadget happy when it comes to new cars.

The report showed Americans want more optional equipment made standard.

New car buyers have "overwhelmingly increased orders for automatic transmissions," while one-third of the 1957 car market wants full-time power steering Over 60 per cent of the customers want radios and 30 per cent want dual rear antennas.

The demand for outside left mirrors has risen 90 per cent.

Buyers also want more windshield washers, back-up lights, whitewall tires, glare-proof mirrors and plastic steering wheels

Almost 98 per cent of all new cars sold are equipped with heaters.

The only optional item listed in the report which has failed to keep pace is tinted glass Only 20 per cent require such glass compared with 37 6 per cent last year.

On the Button

McALESTER, Okla (AP)—Baird Martin took a bulky package to the Railway Express station and remarked he thought it would weigh about 75 pounds

Agent Warren Magruder replied: "I don't believe it will weigh that much. I'd say about 58 pounds"

He put it on the scales. It weighed 58 pounds.

Western Movie Hero Successful as Rancher

DENVER, Colo (AP) — George (Pete) Morrison, once the idol of western movies in the silent film days is now a Jefferson County rancher

Morrison admits he gets quite a kick out of television but never goes to the movies any more.

"They run some of my stuff on TV once in awhile," Morrison says

Before he became a star, Morrison was a stunt man and double for some of the biggest names in silent films, including William S. Hart, Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson, Wallace and Noah Beery, Ramon Navarro and Reginald Denny.

Morrison appeared in more than 125 westerns and serials during two decades of silent movie-making.

Salt hasn't joined the parade of rising prices. The average price today is 7½ cents a pound, the same that it was in 1812.

Lip Service

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP)—Sandra Lee Livesay bid one dollar for her daddy's mustache at a radio auction for charity.

Preposterous, said her dad, Milton. He'd owned that mustache for 24 years and wouldn't let it go for a cent less than $50. But he didn't price it out of the market. A group of his fellow members of a service club chipped in a total of $67 and Livesay was shorn with a radio announcer broadcasting a snip-by-snip description.

Rock 'n' Roll Shocking To Indonesia's Moslems

JAKARTA, Indonesia, (NANA) —While Hollywood's "Don't Knock The Rock" was playing to capacity crowds here, some influential Indonesian elements did just that. So loud was their knock that the Indonesian capital's movie magnates recently felt obliged to suspend showing the rock 'n' roll picture and a companion piece called "Rock, Rock, Rock."

If the reformers continue to prevail, there will be no more "Rock Around The Clock" for Indonesia's dance-happy youth. There will be no more rock 'n' roll at all — nor any other "wild dances" from the West, for that matter.

When rock 'n' roll was called to the attention of legislator Ali Akbar of the potent Islamic Masjumi party, he decried all dances that involve the "holding of women in close embrace in public." Moslem scholars should convene to determine the "inconsistency" of these dances with Islamic teaching, he urged — and set the punishment to be meted out for indulging in them.

IT'S NOT ONLY the old fogies who see things this way:

"Frankly speaking, it's immoral," one young man told a reporter. "It violates our customs," added a University of Indonesia coed.

But for each who take this view, there appear to be many more who think the whole thing is just so much prudery. "Rock Around The Clock" played 17 weeks at the Astoria here, surpassing "Samson And Delilah" for an all-time boxoffice record.

The attack on rock 'n' roll isn't the first such show of Indonesian sensitivity. During last year's Ramadan, the Moslem Lent, youthful bluestockings forced the hotel Savoy Homann, finest in mountain- resort Bandung, to suspend dancing and close its bar.

—:—

IT WAS AT THE Savoy Homann again that current developments got started. At a "film ball" early in February, Indonesian movie and society folk tried their toes at rock 'n' roll. All would have been fine except that the ballroom, typical of the tropics, was exposed to the street. Half of Bandung gathered to watch and wonder. Reaction cascaded:

Representatives of 40 youth, student and veterans organizations asked police to take reprisals for such a "crazy and immoral" exhibition.

But the police blushingly admitted they were stymied.

"Frankly speaking," an officer said, "our vice section can't take any action because the chiefs of other sections attended the ball."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock police not only watched the bank robbery, they grinned and offered to help.

DeWitt Clark of Little Rock pulled the job armed only with a safety pin. He declined a policeman's offer of a knife.

After 10 minutes of jiggling, Clark completed the job, removing $10.50 in dimes and quarters from his glass piggy bank to put up bond on a charge of speeding.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS RIDGEDALE LOCAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

Sealed proposals will be received by Dwight E. Moore, Clerk of the Board of Education, of the Ridgedale Local School District, Marion County, Ohio at the office of the Local Superintendent of Schools at the Ridgedale Local School District, School Building, Morral, Ohio, until 8:00 P.M. (eight o'clock P.M.) Eastern Standard Time, April 8, 1957, for the purchase of bonds of said school district in the aggregate amount of five hundred ninety-five thousand dollars ($595,000.00) to be dated the first day of April, 1957 and bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of June and December of each year, beginning June 1, 1958.

Said bonds are the second and final series of bonds which were voted November 6, 1956 and are payable from unlimited taxes.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of acquiring site for a new high school building; constructing a new fire-proof high school building; improving present buildings; furniture and furnishings; landscape planting; and side-walks and drives, under the laws of Ohio, particularly the Uniform Bond Law, and in accordance with a certain Resolution "To Issue Bonds After Submission to Electors" passed on the 25th day of February, 1957.

Said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1000.00 each, and shall be due and payable as follows: $30,000.00 on December 1, in each of the years 1958 to 1976 inclusive and $25,000.00 December 1, 1977.

Said bonds shall be numbered 101 to 695 inclusive of both numbers.

Both principal and interest will be payable at the legal depository of said school district, currently the National City Bank of Marion, in the City of Marion, County of Marion, State of Ohio.

Any one desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than specified in this advertisement. Provided, however, where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one quarter of one per cent or multiples thereof.

Said bonds will be awarded to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest at a meeting of said Board of Education to be held at 8:00 o'clock P.M. (E.S.T.) on the 8th day of April, 1957, or at an adjourned meeting thereof.

All bids must state the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery, shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid For Ridgedale Local School District School Improvement Bonds."

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check drawn in favor of the Board of Education of the Ridgedale Local School District in the sum of $5950.00 upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds within a reasonable time after the award thereof or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled. The Board of Education of said school district reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The proceedings for this issue are being taken under the supervision of the Firm of Squire, Sanders, and Dempsey, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at his expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Board of Education.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

1-A—CARD OF THANKS

I WISH to thank all my neighbors and friends for their cards and flowers during my stay at Marion General Hospital. Also Dr. McGlew, Dr. J. G. McNamara and all the nurses who were so kind.
Mrs. Lulu Kraner.

1-B—IN MEMORIAMS

IN MEMORY of husband, D. L. Brady, who passed away March 21, 1945.
Loving memories never die,
As the years roll on, and days pass by,
In our hearts a memory is kept,
Of one we loved and will never forget.
Mary C. Brady and Family.

IN MEMORY of Emma E. Lauer who passed away March 21, 1945.
At night when stars are gleaming,
We know just what we will do,
We'll look for the brightest one shining,
And say in our hearts it is you.
Her Family.

IN MEMORY of Elijah J. Heller who passed away March 21st, 1956.
Sleep on beloved, sleep and take thy rest;
Lay down thy head upon thy Savior's breast,
We love thee well, but Jesus loves thee best.
Farewell!
The Children.

Woman Tells of Hollywood Raid

Wrong Door Crash-In Victim Is Heard by Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The woman victim of the wrong-door crash-in aimed at Marilyn Monroe gave a county grand jury the story of her "night of terror" when a group of raiders burst into her bedroom.

"I was terrified," Mrs. Florence Kotz Ross testified Tuesday. "The place was full of men. They were making a lot of noises and lights flashed on.

"They broke a lot of glasses in the kitchen getting out of there."

Mrs. Ross admitted she couldn't tell if Frank Sinatra was one of the raiders. "It was too dark and I was too shocked," she said.

The jurors today hope to end the hearing into the ill-starred Nov. 5, 1954, raid which ended in Mrs. Ross' apartment. One of the witnesses will be Sheila Stewart Renour, the actress Miss Monroe reportedly was visiting that night on another floor of the apartment.

Sinatra told the jurors Tuesday he only went along for the ride with Joe DiMaggio and others assertedly seeking evidence against Miss Monroe, then the wife of the ex-Yankee Clipper.

This was the same story the crooner told a State Senate committee which recently investigated practices of private detectives in connection with scandal magazines.

Another witness, private detective Phil Irwin, said he also told the same story the senators heard: that Sinatra was an active participant in the raid and wasn't in a car "smoking a cigarette" as he claimed.

DiMaggio, in a deposition, backed Sinatra's story, and wrote that business matters in New York would prevent him from personally testifying. Miss Monroe, also invited to appear, has not been heard from yet.

'Atomic' Kitchens Shown at Chicago

DETROIT (INS) — The "atomic-ic age" extends from awesome bombs to futuristic kitchens.

One company developed an "atomics for living" kitchen exhibited at the annual Chicago winter furniture market which featured foods for the first time preserved by atomic energy.

Built of plastic materials, with disappearing cabinets that drop down from above or pop up from below, the kitchen also has a disappearing ultra - sonic dishwasher and electronic range.

The kitchen includes three different types of refrigerated food storage: freezer compartment, normal refrigerator compartment, and a third temperature zone for foods subjected to atomic irradiation, which will keep safely for long periods at moderately cool temperatures.

LONG HAUL

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Thieves made a long haul here — 1,800 feet of steel cable taken from the Gilpin Court Extension housing project.

Former School Official Gives Advice to Parents

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A former school superintendent told a PTA meeting that adults are inclined to pay less attention to child rearing than "to our pigs, chickens, fruit trees and vegetation."

"If you discipline well, you don't seem to be disciplining at all," Dr. R. G. Mowrey said.

"Be not dogmatic and autocratic, but democratic and firm," he added.
